

WAR MEMORIAL

WELLINGTON CARILLON
BROADCAST IN BRITAIN
BRILLIANT RECITAL

United Press Association—By Electric Telegraph—Copyright.

Australian Press Association—United Service.

(Received 18th June, 1 p.m.)

LONDON, 17th June.

A recital of Wellington's War Memorial Carillon was broadcast throughout the country with great success last evening.

The richness and variety of tone of the forty-nine bells were beautifully displayed by the recitalist, Mr. Clifford Ball, playing at the Newcastle Exhibition, where the carillon is being shown prior to its shipment to New Zealand.

The music included the "Londonderry Air," and the hymn, "Now the Day is Over."

Sir James Parr, introducing the recital to listeners, recalled New Zealand's war effort on behalf of the Empire, and his hope that the unique nature of the memorial in the fact that the bells were inscribed "The Somme," "Jutland," "Gallipoli," and other battlefields where New Zealand's seventeen thousand dead lie.

MINISTER HONoured

MR. PERRELLE AT BLUFF

STATE ADVANCES LOANS

(By Telegraph.)

(Special to "The Evening Post")

INVERCARGILL, This Day.

The Hon. P. A. de la Perrelle, Minister of Internal Affairs, was tendered a most brilliant reception on Monday evening. The Mayor presided over 500 people. The Hon. J. G. Cobbe represented the Government.

Present were the Deputy-Mayor of Invercargill, the Mayor of Gore, Judge Gilfedder of the Native Land Court, and Messrs. D. McDougall and Tuhi Makimara, M.P.s. Mr. Perrelle was congratulated by the Southland local body representatives on his promotion to the Ministry. Tributes were paid to his work, not only for the province but for the Dominion. The portfolio was declared to be justly deserved.

In a long speech Mr. Cobbe referred to the land settlement policy of the Government, which he said, was being handled in a firm, decisive manner.

Mr. Perrelle said that the Government was carrying out its election pledges, particularly in regard to providing money for the purchase and settlement of the State Advances Department from 10th December to 31st May numbered 1465 to settlers, valued at £1,762,770, and 1866 to settlers amounting to £1,510,555. The total number of loans was 333, valued at £3,373,325. Between the same dates 956 loans, valued at £1,198,900, had been paid over to settlers, while to workers a total of 2064 loans had been paid, the value being £2,178,450. New loan money added to the State Advances capital between these two dates was £3,336,900, and the balance of loan moneys held available for investment as at 31st May was £2,480,383.

He thanked his constituents for the honour they had done him.

ROYALTY MOCKED

BY SYDNEY COMMUNISTS

AMAZING SCENES

(From "The Post's" Representative.)

SYDNEY, 6th June.

There were amazing scenes at the Sydney Trades Hall on the night of the King's Birthday, when an insolent burlesque of the Royal Family and an anti-royal play were featured by the State staged by the Communists. Loyal subjects are gratified that the Communists are such a tiny section of the community. As it was many loyal workers, who were in the building, protested against the insulting behaviour, they were summarily ejected from the hall. The demonstration continued in the street afterwards, and a number of men, believing to be timber men on strike, threw stones through the window of the hall in an endeavour to make their protest more effective. There might have been bloodshed had not the police arrived on the scene. The hall was crowded with foreigners of both sexes—Russians, Japanese, Chinese, Jugo-Slavs, Germans, and the representatives of many other nations, who have evidently come to Australia to stir up trouble. It is said that many of them do not real work, so there is some excuse for believing that they are maintained by Bolshevik money. To the credit of Australians let it be said that there were few Australians present at this most repulsive and "entertainment." There were some, however, who sat it through, and even joined in the fun, as they seemed to regard it. The play was carried through amid loud applause, the designers grinning in a typically foreign way.

The master of ceremonies was Mr. J. Kavanagh, president of the Trades Union Disputes Committee, which is conducting the strike of the timber workers. He is a well-known Communist, and he had as his assistant another of the same ilk, one Mr. M. Ryan, who also occupies a prominent place in the Trades Hall organisation. The occasion was a banquet raisé money for the Communist paper, and advantage was taken of the King's Birthday to advance anti-Royalist propaganda. A particularly dishevelled and uncomely person, dressed in a military uniform, King, while equally unattractive, the Queen, the Prince of Wales, and the Duke and Duchess of York. For a puny, short one was able to "bash" the Prime Minister, J. H. Hall (who made the award which caused the timber strike), or Mr. Duggan (of the Australian Council of Trade Unions, who has earned the displeasure of the Communists because he reported the peace in industry conference).

"Niggers and aliens hooting the good things that are British," was the way it was put by one of the men who was rejected earlier by the Communist. "We may be strikers, but we are Labour men and not Communists. We are not going to allow the King to be insulted by a lot of foreigners."

SUPREME COURT

IRISH CENTENARY

DUBLIN DECORATED
FLAGS OF ALL NATIONS
BUT NOT A UNION JACK

LONDON, 17th June.

Dublin City was lavishly decorated for the centenary of Roman Catholic emancipation in a medley of flags of all nations, Free State and Papal flags predominating. Not a single Union Jack was visible. This fact gives point to the "Irish Times" comment that under the new regime symbols and traditions dear to thousands of Irish hearts are being discouraged. The "Irish Times" regards President Cosgrave's endorsement of the refusal of the Governor-General, Mr. J. McNeill, to attend Trinity College sports because "God Save the King" would be played as a calculated development by the Government of an anti-Imperial policy, which the bulk of educated citizens, Protestant and Roman Catholic alike, regard with growing alarm.

MURDER IN OHIO

AFFAIR AT UNIVERSITY

(United Service.)

VANCOUVER, 17th June.

The police are holding Professor Henry Snook, of Ohio State University, as well as Professor Marion Myers, for alleged complicity in the murder of Theora Hix, a pretty medical student, whose body, terribly mutilated, was found alongside Lovers' Lane. The police think that Snook was the affection of the charming girl away from his confere. Snook admits that he was financing the girl through college.

BOOKMAKER ROBBED

(Received 18th June, 8 a.m.)

SYDNEY, 17th June.

A bookmaker, W. Tindall, was waylaid by footpads on entering his home at Randwick to-night. There were two masked men, one armed with a revolver, who with a punch and ordered not to call out. He was then robbed of £350, his winnings at the trots to-day.

SOUND FILMS

PUBLICITY INQUIRIES

(United Press Association—By Electric Telegraph—Copyright.)

Mr. R. W. Fenton, Assistant Publicity Officer, has left by the Ararangi on a business trip to Australia. The main purpose of his visit is to inquire into the possibilities of the new sound films which the Department intends taking up in order to enhance the publicity value of the Government product. While in Sydney he will open negotiations with the various interested firms and go thoroughly into the whole question of installation of plant, etc. In continuation of the policy of increasing the Dominion's attractions in the Commonwealth, Mr. Fenton will also look into the matter of arranging details for a further campaign during the winter months in readiness for the coming summer.

BUSH'S FIRST ALL BLACK

(By Telegraph.—Press Association.)

PAHIATUA, This Day.

There was an exceptionally large attendance at the complimentary social at Kanihi last night, tendered by the footballers and residents throughout the district to A. Mahoney, a member of the All Black team for Australia. He is the first Bush player to be chosen to represent New Zealand. Mahoney was the recipient of numerous presentations, including a travelling bag and a wallet.

EMPIRE MIGRATION

PERIL OF THE PEN

MACDONALD'S MISTAKE
WRITING FOR THE PRESS
CRITICISM OF EUROPE

United Press Association—By Electric Telegraph—Copyright.

Australian Press Association.

LONDON, 17th June.

While the Prime Minister is striving to establish peace relations with the United States, he has made a bad fiasco by publishing an article in a Sunday newspaper dealing with the minorities' problem in Europe. "By Ramsay MacDonald, Prime Minister of Great Britain," under the heading, "Menace to Europe—Should the Peace Treaties be Revised?"

In the article Mr. MacDonald states that the complete breakdown of democratic government in Jugo-Slavia and the establishment of a Dictatorship are the latest warnings that there will be grave trouble unless Europe's minority problems are solved in a spirit of give and take. He continues: "The complete breakdown of democratic government in Jugo-Slavia is an irritating and dangerous obstruction." He expresses the opinion that the policy of Serbisation of the Croats in Jugo-Slavia has created two alternatives, equally evil—either an endless Parliamentary deadlock or a Dictatorship. "Italy, pursuing the same policy as the Serb, can do this only for the time being without disturbing Europe," Mr. MacDonald adds: "Nor must Alsace and the Saar be left out of account in the survey of the minority problem."

The "Daily Telegraph" says: "Mr. MacDonald's article has created a big stir in diplomatic circles, and has already assumed speedy dramatic repercussions in several European capitals. It is difficult to comment on this flighty irresponsibility in restrained language. If this is the sort of thing the Government believes is going to bring a peaceful settlement in Europe, it is not likely to have a resounding success."

FRANCE ANNOYED

DANGEROUS ASSERTIONS

(United Press Association.)

PARIS, 17th June.

Surprise and disgust are expressed at Mr. MacDonald's article, in which he suggests that the cases of Alsace and the Saar should be included in the problem of minorities. "There is every indication of Labour starting on dangerous courses," Mr. MacDonald does not trouble to disguise his feelings towards us and our Allies. Such assertions are a firebrand to ignite war and incite German revengiveness."

The "Petit Parisien" says Mr. MacDonald's real aim is to use the problem of minorities as an engine of destruction against peace treaties.

SEVEN DEAD

BRITISH AIR DISASTER
LONDON-PARIS LINER
CRASH IN THE CHANNEL

British Official Wireless.

RUGBY, 17th June.

An Imperial Airways liner bound from Crocydon for Paris crashed in the Channel this morning, and seven passengers lost their lives. Four passengers and the pilot and mechanic were rescued, and landed at Folkestone. They were all injured. One dead passenger was recovered and landed at Folkestone.

The air liner left Crocydon at half-past ten this morning. An hour afterwards, when she was in mid-Channel, the pilot sent a signal of distress to Crocydon. He then turned and made an attempt to reach land. A few minutes later he came down about three miles south-east of Dungeness.

The aeroplane is the City of Ottawa. It is a "win-engineered Handley Page, and was placed in commission in March, 1926. It has since flown more than 250,000 miles, and made approximately 9000 Channel crossings.

Three of the dead passengers are women, and three of the rescued passengers are women also.

SCHREIBER'S EXPERIENCE

(United Press Association.)

PARIS, 17th June.

Describing the trans-Atlantic flight of the French monoplane Yellow Bird, the pilot, Assolant, said that he discovered the stowaway Schreiber ten minutes after the start. It was a very rough, stormy journey. Schreiber sometimes got anxious and handed from the cockpit notes in crude French asking how they were getting on. The pilot kept to one stereotyped answer, "It's all right."

Schreiber, in an interview, said: "This crossing business is not a joke. It thrilled me to see the way the air-men found their way from clouds and fog."
