REPORTS

CLAIMS FOR LOSSES ARISING OUT OF THE NATIVE REBELLION.

No. 1.

Mr. Commissioner BECKHAM to the Hon. the COLONIAL SECRETARY.

Compensation Court, Auckland, 10th June, 1865. Sir,-Adverting to your letter of the 29th April, 1865, requesting me to investigate the claim of Mr. T. Leddra Wallis, on account of injuries inflicted on his son Joseph Coates Wallis, by the rebel Natives:

I have the honor to report that I have made a strict inquiry into his case, and find from the evidence of medical men (vide Enclosure) that the wounds which the boy received will incapacitate him from earning a livelihood, and that he will be constantly liable to inflammation of the brain, from the excitement and bustle of life, in consequence of the brain being exposed to injury by the removal of a portion of the skull, and beg to recommend for the consideration of the Government, that the sum of Five hundred pounds $(\pounds 500)$ be awarded for his benefit.

Should the Government take a favorable view of his case, I would suggest that the sum awarded be invested for the boy's sole benefit.

I annex a copy of the inquiry. The Hon. the Colonial Secretary, Wellington.

I have, &c.,

THOMAS BECKHAM, Commissioner.

Enclosure to No. 1.

Thomas Leddra Wallis, states :—I was a settler residing at the Wairoa in the year 1863. When my son who is now in Court, was wounded, I was residing at Papakura. The child now in Court is the one for whom I claim compensation for injuries he sustained. He is my son and will be twelve (12) years of age in the month of October next. On the 13th of October, 1863, the child now present was sent with the late Mr. Job Hamlyn to the Wairoa. Mr. Job Hamlyn was shot dead, and my son, now present, was found near him all but dead from severe tomahawk wounds. The body of Mr. Job Hamlyn was found on the Wairoa Road, at the entrance of the bush, on the 13th October, 1863. William Rayner, states :--I am Assistant Surgeon in the 4th Waikato Regiment of Militia. I recollect

William Rayner, states :--I am Assistant Surgeon in the 4th Waikato Regiment of Militia. I recollect the circumstance of Mr. Job Hamlyn being shot. He was murdered, supposed to be by the rebel Natives. This occurred on the 13th October, 1863. I was at that time stationed at Papakura, about four or five miles from the place of the murder. The boy Joseph Coates Wallis was brought to Papakura, and was received into the Military Hospital there by order of the Brigadier. I examined the boy, he was then insensible. He had an extensive incised wound on the left cheek extending from the outer angle of the eye to the extremity of the nose, which had evidently been inflicted by the sharp edge of a tomahawk. That wound was accompanied by the fracture of the molar bone; in addition to this he had received a fracture of the skull, a portion of the frontal bone being depressed. I was compelled to perform the operation of trepanning in order to relieve the pressure upon the brain, and to restore sensibility. Those were the only wounds he had received. After the operation sensibility was restored. The fracture of the skull was evidently done by the hammer end of the tomahawk. I am of opinion that the wounds have progressed most favorably, and that the wound on the cheek will not interfere with the lad's prospects, further than the disfigurement of the face; but the brain being exposed to injury by the removal of the portion of skull will render him liable at any time, from the excitement and bustle of life, to inflammation of the brain. The action of the sun, if exposed to its rays, would seriously affect him. In fact anything of an exciting nature would have a prejudicial effect: the injuries however will not affect his physical powers. At present the brain is not impaired, but excitement might impair it at any moment. Mental application would affect the brain is not impaired, but excitement might impair it at any moment. Mental application would affect the brain : it would not be safe for him to apply to study, nor can I say that it would be safe for him to apply himself to severe study at any future time. I had observed that the boy was afflicted with partial paralysis of the left side before he received the wound. The severe wounds he has received inflicted a severe shock upon the system, and may have for a time affected the weak side. The wounds inflicted would have been more likely to affect the opposite or the right side. Joseph Coates Wallis, states :-- I recollect going to Wairoa with the late Mr. Job Hamlyn. We started from Papakura together on one Sunday morning about eighteen months ago. I do not recollect the month. We had been to the Wairoa, and on our return I saw a Native who came after me. I have no recollection of what happened to me, neither do I recollect what happened to Mr. Hamlyn. I heard Mr. Hamlyn screech before the Native got up to me.

Thomas Moore Philson, states: —I am Provincial Surgeon, and have examined the boy Thomas Coates Wallis in conjunction with Dr. Rayner. I have discovered the traces of the wounds, similar to those described in the evidence given by Dr. Rayner. In my estimation, the effects of the wounds will render him an invalid for life. It will be necessary for him to use the utmost circumspection when occupied with his daily avocations. The wounds place him in an unfavorable position for earning his own livelihood, and are of such a nature as to render it extremely problematical whether he will be enabled to do so. I consider him invalid for life.

No. 2.

Mr. Commissioner BECKHAM to the Hon. the COLONIAL SECRETARY.

Compensation Court, Graham's Buildings,

Auckland, 17th June, 1865.

SIR,— Adverting to your communication of the 29th April, 1865, referring me to the Journals of the House of Representatives, 1864, for a Schedule of Petitions to the House specially referred to Government, preferring claims for compensation arising out of the rebellion in the Province of Auckland, and requesting me "to investigate and report on them for the information of Government," I have the honor to inform you that I have investigated the claim of D. McCaskill (£1,640), but find that the applicant has no right whatever to compensation, as his farm was occupied during the whole period for which he claims recom-pense. Moreover, had the farm been abandoned, the particulars of his claim are of such a nature that I do not think they could be recognized.

Mrs. Rhoda Bedda Hamlin, one of the petitioners, was duly requested to prefer her claim, but she has not done so, probably from the fact that she had already urged a claim under the authority of my commission.

With regard to the other petitioners referred to in the Schedule, I beg to state that, with some few exceptions (vide Return annexed), their claims have also been considered under the same authority. I have, &c.,

The Hon. the Colonial Secretary, Wellington.

THOMAS BECKHAM, Commissioner.

No. 3.

Mr. Commissioner BECKHAM to the Hon. the COLONIAL SECRETARY.

Compensation Court, Graham's Buildings,

Auckland, 17th June, 1865.

SIR,-

22nd Feby.,

No. 99. 1st March. 20th April, No. 309, 1865.

Adverting to your communications of the dates specified in the margin, with reference to my inquiring ito certain claims for losses by the Native rebellion, since the 11th July, 1863, under the New Zealand Settlements Act, within the Province of Auckland; and with respect to certain other losses occasioned by rebel Natives to persons wrecked in the steamer "Lord Worsley" on the coast of Taranaki in 1863, I have the honor to report that I have investigated three hundred and seventy-two European and forty Native claims, the former amounting to £136,370 2s. 10d. (vide Appendix A.), and the latter to £7,454 10s. 6d. (vide Appendix B.) European Claims.—After a careful consideration of the evidence adduced, I find that the European claimants have suffered to the extent of £71,002 16s. 2d., and the Natives to £2,432 19s. 6d. The losses which I have deemed it right to recommend for compensation have been :-

Firstly .-- For the non-occupation of houses and enclosed lands under cultivation.

Secondly.—For the destruction of crops, cattle, or other property, deducting a uniform percentage from the claimants' own estimate of the value of personal effects.

From the facts laid before me, I find that during the latter part of the year 1863, the markets were much depreciated in consequence of the great number of cattle which were forced into them by the settlers who were driven from their homesteads by the rebel Natives. I have therefore allowed-

Thirdly.—A percentage upon all compulsory sales to the end of that year. In several instances I have been unable to admit the claims preferred, from want of evidence and impropriety of the demands (see annexed Return.)

Native Claims.—The claims made by Natives have been somewhat more difficult to determine. In some cases the property for which compensation has been claimed, was left in the hands of Natives who afterwards took part in the rebellion, and as the evidence failed to show that the goods were not taken by those individuals, and no proof having been given that the property was destroyed by the troops, I did not feel justified in admitting them. "Lord Worsley" Claims.—There are thirteen claims in connexion with the wreck of the "Lord Worsley," steamer, amounting to £2,419 4s. 4d., which I have considered, and have awarded sums amounting to £1,837 6s. $10\frac{1}{2}d$. (vide Appendix C.)

In dealing with the majority of these claims, which are for losses of personal property, I have applied the same rule as that observed with regard to settlers in this Province-deducting a percentage from the claimants' estimate-and this, I believe, will accord to them the real value of the property at the time it was lost or destroyed.

I forward a return, showing the amount to which each claimant is entitled.

The Hon. the Colonial Secretary, Wellington.

I have, &c.,

THOMAS BECKHAM, Commissioner.
