Colonial Secretary's Office, Wellington, 3rd April, 1877. SIR,-I have the honor to acknowledge the receipt of your letter of the 21st ultimo, asking why the Registrar-General refuses to register ad eundem Degrees of Medicine granted by the New Zealand University, and, in reply, to transmit to you a copy of a memorandum by Mr. Brown, explaining the reasons for such refusal. Enclosure in No. 2.

The REGISTRAR-GENERAL to the Hon. the COLONIAL SECRETARY.

"THE Medical Practitioners Act, 1869," section 12, specified certain qualifications which entitled the holder to be registered under that Act. The only part of the section that embraces other than qualifications of the United Kingdom or Ireland is the last subsection but one. It will be observed that the diploma or degree therein specified must be obtained after "due examination," and must be one that, per se, entitles the holder to practise medicine. An ad eundem degree of the University of New Zealand does not come within the terms of the subsection. It is not obtained after due examination, but is merely an honorary degree given in consequence of a degree having been obtained elsewhere, nor does it, in itself, entitle the holder to practise medicine. I therefore refused to register the ad cundem degree as an additional medical qualification under the aforesaid Act. W. R. E. Brown.

The Hon. the Colonial Secretary.

I have, &c., W. M. Maskell,
