EDUCATION: ANNUAL EXAMINATIONS.

[In continuation of E.—1A, 1906.]

Presented to both Houses of the General Assembly by Command of His Excellency.

The INSPECTOR-GENERAL of SCHOOLS to the Hon. the MINISTER OF EDUCATION.

SIR,—

Education Department, Wellington, 15th June, 1907.

I have the honour to report upon the annual examinations for teachers' certificates for Junior National Scholarships, for Junior Free Places in secondary schools, district high schools, and technical schools, for Senior Free Places in secondary schools and district high schools, and for admission to or promotion in the Civil Service. The examinations were held between the 11th and the 21st days of December, 1906, and between the 5th and the 18th days of January, 1907, at the thirteen towns, which are the seats of Education Boards, and also at Alexandra, Aratapu, Arrowtown, Ashburton, Balclutha, Daunevirke, Gisborne, Gore, Hamilton, Hawera, Lawrence, Levin, Masterton, Naseby, Oamaru, Opatiki, Pahiatua, Palmerston North, Paparoa, Rangiora, Reefton, Riverton, Stratford, Tapanui, Tauranga, Thames, Wairoa, Westport, Whangarei.

The total number of candidates that entered was 4,815, of whom 437 were absent from examination. The numbers that actually sat for the several examinations were as follows: For the Junior National Scholarship and Junior Free Place Examination, 1,458; for the Civil Service Junior Examination, 2,123; for the Civil Service Senior Examination, 183; for certificate examinations, 1,051. The number, 183, given for the Senior Examination includes 13 who are also included in the number, 2,123, given for the Junior Examination.

The Junior National Scholarship Examination was used by all of the Education Boards except four for awarding their junior scholarships, and by Victoria College for awarding the Junior Queen's Scholarships.

The Civil Service Junior Examination was used as the examination for senior free places in secondary schools and district high schools, and also as the first examination of pupil-teachers. It has also been adopted by nearly all the Education Boards as the test for their senior scholarships.

The following table shows in a succinct form the number of candidates for the last two years:—

	1905-6.	1906-7.
Junior National Scholarship and Junior Free Place ...	790	1,458
Civil Service Junior, Senior Free Place, First Pupil-teachers ...	1,305	2,123
Teachers D and C ...	749	1,051
Civil Service Senior ...	141	183
	<hr/> 2,985	<hr/> 4,815

From a comparison of the figures in the above table, it will be seen that the recent examinations have witnessed a remarkable increase in the number of candidates under the various headings. This increase in the candidature, so far as the December examinations are concerned, is evidently due to the greater opportunities now afforded for free secondary education; in the teachers' examinations it is accounted for chiefly by the encouragement given to teachers to improve their status, more especially in connection with the increased facilities extended to those who desire to take a forward step towards a Class C qualification.

The expenses of the examination amounted to £3,838 11s. 6d., and the fees paid by candidates to £2,127 4s. Printing and clerical work are not included in the account of expenses. The results of the Junior National Scholarship Examination were made known on the 23rd January, those of the Civil Service Junior Examination on the 29th January, those of the Civil Service Senior Examination on the 22nd February, those of the examination for the Education Board's Senior Scholarships and for Senior Free Places on the 29th January, and those of the teachers' examinations on the 23rd February.

The total number of candidates that sat for the Junior National Scholarship and Junior Free Place Examinations was 1,458. Of this number, 1,102 were candidates for scholarships, and 356 for free places only. On the result of the examinations, 593 attained a scholarship qualification, and (including this number) 722 qualified for free places in secondary schools.

The highest percentages of marks gained in the various examination-papers were as follows: English, 89; arithmetic, 99; geography, 98; general paper, 90; drawing, 100. The highest percentage gained by any one candidate on the whole examination was 88.

Of the 2,123 candidates for the Civil Service Junior Examination, 1,114 were seeking employment in the Public Service, and 759 passed the examination, 566 of them with credit. Of the successful candidates, those that passed with credit, and such of the remainder as were not over sixteen years of age on the 1st December, 1906, have satisfied the requirements of clause 7 of the Regulations for the holding of Senior Free Places in Secondary Schools and District High Schools. There were 615 candidates for Senior Free Places only. The total number that qualified for Senior Free Places was 1,177.

Of the 183 Civil Service Senior candidates, 86 came up to complete examinations in which they had been partially successful. In all 54 passed the whole examination—1 of them with distinction—and there were 84 whose work was accepted by the Department.

The numbers of candidates that entered for different stages of the Teachers' Certificate Examinations, with their status at the time of entry, are shown in the subjoined table:—

Examinations previously passed	Candidates for the Whole or Part of the Class C Examination.	For Class D.	For Class D, with the Matriculation Examination of December, 1906.	For Completion of Partial Pass for Class D.	For Special Certificates in Single Subjects	Total.
Nil ... ..	4	193	29	...	4	230

Higher examinations ... ..	121	1	...	...	...	122
Totals ... ..	440	380	35	179	5	1,039

Of the whole number of 1,039 candidates, 286 have passed—92 for Class C, 194 for Class D. 263 have obtained partial pass—94 for Class C and 169 for Class D. There are 159 whose work in separate subjects of the Class C examination has been accepted by the Department, and 256 candidates, besides 137 absentees, have failed to improve their status. Appended to this report are lists of the examiners of the successful and partially successful candidates, and also criticisms and suggestions made by the examiners. The examination-papers have been printed separately.

CRITICISMS AND SUGGESTIONS.

CRITICISMS AND SUGGESTIONS MADE BY THE EXAMINERS IN CIVIL SERVICE, D AND C CERTIFICATE EXAMINATIONS FOR THE YEAR 1907.

ENGLISH.

- “ There was extreme carelessness in the setting out.”
- “ There was too much introduction of irrelevant matter.”
- “ The literary period was not well done.”
- “ Analysis was the only subject well done.”
- “ There was astonishing ignorance of a large number of ordinary words.”
- “ The composition was good, but decidedly dull.”
- “ The comprehension of literary English was the least satisfactorily answered.”
- “ Very few candidates exhibited ability to translate English with precision into simpler language.”
- “ The majority of candidates do not yet know how to handle the paragraph. Some make the whole essay one paragraph, while quite a number made each sentence a paragraph.”
- “ A few candidates made the examiner's work heavier by excessively sloped or unduly large writing, or by unnecessary flourishes at the beginning of words.”
- “ One of the most striking faults noticeable in the great majority was extreme verbosity; this led to hurried writing which, in some cases, was almost—or quite—illegible.”
- “ As regards the correction of common errors of spoken and written language, there was a very marked tendency to find fault with what was already correct.”

"A few candidates were altogether unequal to the requirements of the examination. There were also a few whose carelessness in every respect indicated that they sat with no serious intentions, or else with no earnest desire to qualify."

ARITHMETIC.

"A number of papers were disfigured by a careless and untidy method of scribbling on the left-hand page."

"Some candidates used rules and devices little understood to solve problems."

MATHEMATICS.

"One word of warning I may be permitted to utter against the abuse of a method of geometrical construction now universally adopted. Hypothetical constructions play a most important part in the modern treatment of elementary geometry, and their value is acknowledged by all. But the chief relief from mental effort which this application readily affords, coupled with the licentious freedom with which they are sometimes employed, is apt to induce slipshod habits of thought exceedingly detrimental to the faculty of clear deduction and reasoning. Quite a substantial number of the candidates who, in answer to question 5, essayed to reproduce the proof of Euclid I 6 given in Godfrey and Siddons's text-book, started off with the fatal assumption that a perpendicular bisector might be dropped from the vertex on the base of the triangle."

"Many of the candidates did not seem to have had the necessary drawing-instruments available."

HISTORY.

"The chief general fault was the introduction of irrelevant matter, and writing round about a subject."

"Some of the chief faults and defects that appear in the present examination are: scanty knowledge, especially within the special period; inability to manipulate the small stock of knowledge possessed; introduction of irrelevant material; vagueness; inaccurate use of terms; violation of the commonidioms of English, and inability to use the commonest stops; neglect of the examiner's instructions; and failure to appreciate the meaning of the question asked."

"I am quite clear that the majority of those who failed were quite unfit to be presented for any examination in history."

HYGIENE AND PHYSIOLOGY.

"The writing was in many cases difficult to read."

"It cannot be too strongly insisted upon that for examination purposes all writing should be clear and easily readable, each word being well separated from its neighbours, and each line kept distinct from those above and below it, and that all flourishes or affected fanciful styles of writing should be strenuously discouraged."

"In many cases far too much was written, the candidates evidently thinking that lack of knowledge could be compensated for by an abundance of words."

"Diagrams should be simple, clear sketches on the same page as the description applying to them. They ought to be drawn in pencil, not in ink, and distinctive colours used to indicate the various parts."

PRECIS WRITING AND CORRESPONDENCE.

"Candidates seemed to think that a précis is a more or less condensed reproduction of all the letters. Some even prepared a second docket slightly different from the first, and relied upon the numerals '2' or '3' to differentiate between précis and docket. Others were unable to distinguish between précis and docket. Others were unable to distinguish between a précis 'giving the substance of the correspondence in narrative form,' and a minute 'briefly setting forth the subject and result of the correspondence.'"

SHORTHAND.

"Quite a large number of candidates did not attempt to transcribe more than one-half of their notes, and much that they wrote was so inaccurate that it either conveyed a wrong meaning, or was a mere jumble of unconnected words and phrases. Clearness and accuracy are all-important, and must precede the attempt to acquire speed—even a speed of eighty words a minute. The initial stages require great care, and this must be continued until the signs can be written correctly with almost no conscious mental effort—in other words, until the habit of forming accurate signs is fixed. Practice and perseverance will do the rest."

NEEDLEWORK.

"Question No. 4, which required candidates to draw patterns of two under-garments, proved that the majority were not familiar with any system of drafting on sectional paper, and often produced instead of patterns, sketches of garments, or patterns out of all proportion."

"The English was singularly weak, and the spelling of ordinary words, such as 'yoke,' 'collar,' and 'practise,' very inaccurate."

DRAWING.

"Candidates who find that the time allowed for the examination is coming to a close should leave their work in the rough, and not attempt to rub it out preparatory to finishing in clear outline."

"Many drawings were spoilt by being on too small a scale (being rather free-hand drawings than free-arm), and a few by being too large, principally in the ornament."

"The main constructions had not evidently been drawn at all, showing a total ignorance as to how a free-arm drawing should be set out."

ELEMENTARY PHYSICAL MEASUREMENTS.

"Generally speaking, the papers showed that the bulk of the students had done very little, if any, practical work themselves."

"Not a single student gave either a correct definition of the 'Law of Archimedes,' or an accurate method of proving it experimentally."

"Scarcely any of the students had either made a simple barometer or knew its use."

LATIN AND GREEK.

"This year, as last, I have to remark that many of the papers were not merely badly written—which may be the misfortune rather than the crime of the writer—but slovenly. In many the punctuation was more or less defective; in one or two no distinction was made between different stops, a dash or an almost invisible dot serving for all alike. Flagrant misspellings occurred in many. Of course, much allowance must be made for haste; but when mistakes of this sort are gross, and seem to imply indifference and habitual carelessness, some penalty should, I think, be imposed—at all events, that is my custom."

"It is a common but foolish practice to give two guesses. In case of ignorance, one guess, if it happens to be right, will escape detection and serve the purpose; but he who, in his desire to get two chances instead of one, puts down two, gives himself away."

"In translation from Latin, errors as to tense were very common. Again and again forms which even a beginner must have recognised as perfects (or aorists), if he had thought for a moment, were translated as presents, and that too when the effect was not to make translation easier but to make nonsense. It seems strange that those who did this have not noticed that, whilst the difference of idiom often requires a past tense in English for a Latin (historic) present, the converse is never true."
