

Table MB shows the degree courses taken during the year 1913 by students attending lectures at the various University colleges, including the professional schools attached thereto.

TABLE MB.—COURSES TAKEN BY STUDENTS ATTENDING LECTURES AT UNIVERSITY COLLEGES IN 1913.

Course.	Men.	Women.	Total.
Arts (as for B.A., M.A., &c.)	329	326	655
Science (as for B.Sc., M.Sc., &c.)	55	14	69
Law (as for LL.B.)	238	1	239
Commerce (as for B.Com.)	61	...	61
Music (as for B.Mus.)	2	2
Medicine (as for M.B., &c.)	130	*16	146
Dentistry (as for B.D.S.)	9	...	9
Engineering (Civil, Mechanical, or Electrical)	42	...	42
Mining Engineering	19	...	19
Home Science	41	41
Agriculture (exclusive of students at Lincoln Agricultural College during 1913)	1	...	1
Totals	884	400	1,284

* Includes seven students studying massage.

The total staff of the four University colleges consists of 47 professors and 66 lecturers.

The following table shows the staff of the several institutions :—

PROFESSORS AND LECTURERS (1913).

	Professors.	Lecturers, Demonstrators, and Assistants.
Auckland University College	8	15
Victoria University College	10	15
Canterbury University College	10	11
Otago University	19*	25†
Total	47	66

* Also four Emeritus Professors.
Clinical Medicine and Clinical Surgery.

† Also the honorary staff of the Dunedin Hospital act as lecturers on FINANCES OF THE AFFILIATED INSTITUTIONS IN 1913.

The detailed statements of accounts of the New Zealand University, the four affiliated institutions, and the Canterbury Agricultural College, Lincoln, will be found in the Appendix to E.-7. The following summary gives a general view of the finances of the University colleges. No notice has been taken of special trust accounts and of non-university institutions under the control of a College Council, such as (for instance) the Museum, Public Library, or School of Art, controlled by the Board of Governors of Canterbury College, or the Museum connected with Otago University.