

SESSION II.
1921.
NEW ZEALAND.

LAND-DRAINAGE METHODS IN AMERICA

AND RELATIVE MATTERS (REPORT ON), BY J. B. THOMPSON, CHIEF DRAINAGE ENGINEER, LANDS AND SURVEY DEPARTMENT, NEW ZEALAND.

Laid on the Table of the House of Representatives by Leave

CONTENTS.

	PAGE		PAGE
Localities visited—		Sedimentation
Dominion of Canada	Erosion of Ditches
United States of America	Erosion of Hill-land and Control of Hill-water
The Drainage Movement in Canada and United States—		Flood Protection
Canada	Tide, Sluice, and Lock Gates
United States of America	Concrete Overfalls, Flumes, and Spillways
Legal Machinery: Drainage Districts—		Highways
Petitions	Comparison of the Muck and Peat Soil of the United States with that of New Zealand
Objections	Comparison of Alluvial Swamp Lands of United States and New Zealand
Classification	The Selection of Drainage Machinery and Supplies for New Zealand
Finance	Contracts entered into
Comparison	Requisitions issued
General Practice	Proposed Distribution of Machinery and Supplies—
Classes of Drainage—		Consideration
Gravity System	Plant-distribution
Salt marsh Drainage	Office
Drainage by Pumping	The Future of the Land-drainage Movement in New Zealand—
Tile Draining	Past History
Excavation of Channels and Ditches—		The Future
Dipper Dredges	Investigations necessary
Clam-shell Dredges	Recommended Field of Investigation in New Zealand
Walking-dredges	Conclusion—
Drag-line Scraper Excavators	General
Hydraulic Suction Dredges	Personal
Operating-costs of Various Machines
General
Drainage Excavation Costs, Period 1919-20
Annual Maintenance of Ditches		