 This is unquestionably the finest Art Supplement yet given to the public in New Zealand. It represents Maori women washing clothes and cooking round the hot springs which abound on the Ohinemutu shores of Lake Rotorua. An exquisite production, which will be framed for the walls of thousands of drawing rooms, not merely in New Zealand, but all over the Empire.
Special Attention is drawn to the fact that the "Graphic" does not go beyond the Colony for such work. The picture is a New Zealand Picture, by a New Zealand Artist, and has been printed by New Zealand Workmen
