MASTERTON.

Dear Bee, May 21.
Last week we had a delightful visit from Nellie Stewart, who produced "Sweet Nell of Old Drury" to what must have been a record house for Masterton. Needless to say, we were all greatly pleased with the performance, and shall look forward to "Sweet Nell's" return, probably in a month or two. Amongst the large audience I noticed Mrs Donald, wearing a black evening gown; Mrs Hosking, charming white gown and lovely coat of fur; Mrs Wrightson, pretty black and white silk; Mrs Hugh Williams, stylish evening gown of black; Mrs Butement, very pretty black silk; Mrs Charles Val-lance, white evening dress; Mrs Rawson, pretty turquoise blue, white lace trimmings; Mrs R. H. Rathbone, black crème de chine, jet and black chiffon trimmings, and handsome cloak of black and white silk; Mrs Myer Caselberg, white and black silk; Mrs Joseph Caselberg, very pretty pink and white silk; Mrs Alfred Caselberg and Mrs David Caselberg, both in white silk; Mrs Andrews, black evening dress, handsome blue cloak; Mrs W. Cruickshank, pretty black evening gown, relieved with white; Mrs R. K. Jackson, dainty pink silk blouse, black skirt; Mrs Henry Wood looked very pretty in white silk evening dress and pretty white cloak; her friend looked very nice in blue and white silk and pretty white evening coat; Mrs Charter was gowned in white; Mrs Sumerell, black evening dress; Mrs Fendall, champagne lace evening blouse and black skirt; Miss Archer looked very pretty in orange-coloured silk; Miss Chapman, pretty pink silk, pink silk rose in her hair; Miss Marison, white evening dress; Misses Gray (3), white evening dresses; Misses Beard (2), white blouses, black skirts; Miss Wolf, yellow silk evening dress; Miss Ruby Gower, pretty white muslin dress; Miss Fowler, black and white evening dress.

We had quite a large attendance at our golf links on Saturday last, when a delightful afternoon tea was given by Mrs Donald and Mrs Vivian Donald.
The day was beautifully fine. The players present were Mrs James, Mrs Norman Beetham, Mrs Lawrence, Mrs H.
Rathbone, Mrs Cruickshank, Mrs Burnas, Misses Nicholls (3), Miss Robinson, Miss Payton, Miss Rawson, Miss Doualdson, Miss Beard, Miss Wyatt, Miss Holmes, Major Donald, Messrs Beetham, James, Galwey, Lawrence, Rathbone, Cox, Aylmer, Croft, Robinson, Sellar, Fendall, Evans, Burns.

The cantata "David and Goliath," by Rev. W. Earee, was given with great success last week. A.L.C.A.

HAWERA.

Dear Bee, May 19.
Mr. and Mrs. Turnbull entertained a number of their friends at a most enjoyable enclire party last Tuesday evening. There were thirteen tables. Miss White won the ladies' first prize, a silver-mounted hair-pin box. The men's first prize, a silver serviette ring, was won by Mr. L. Storey. Play was kept up until about half-past ten, when supper was served, the guests dispersing a little after eleven o'clock, after having spent a delightful evening. Amongst those present I noticed: Mrs. Turnbull in a gown of black silk, the corsage relieved with point lace; Miss A. Turnbull wearing a dainty frock of white silk, the skirt prettily tucked and inserted with lace, pink silk sash; Miss White, pretty frock of white silk, the skirt tucked, the corsage finished with a deep yoke of lace; Miss Coatts, dainty frock of pink silk, the corsage trimmed with bands of lace insertion; Miss Baird, white silk, frilled and tucked; Miss P. Baird, white silk blouse, deep transparent yoke of ecru lace; Miss Eva Baird, white silk, frilled and tucked; Miss Brett, white muslin, inserted with lace, and tucked; Miss Dingle, white silk daintily trimmed; Miss Mc-Lean, handsome frock of floral white silk, the corsage trimmed with lovely lace; Miss Alexander, white silk blouse, prettily trimmed, black skirt; Miss Hirst, black satin; Miss M. Hirst, very dainty blouse of blue silk, relieved with lace insertion, dark skirt; Miss N.

Coutts; Miss Beryl Nolan, floral silk blouse, dark skirt; Miss Q. Glenn, white silk frock; Miss Bayly, green silk blouse trimmed with lace, black skirt; Miss A.
Bayly, red-shot silk blouse, dark skirt; Miss Carey (Stratford), very dainty frock of white muslin, prettily trimmed with lace; Messrs. Turnbull (2), Kenny, Swinburne, Norton, Liddle, Nicholson, Glenn (2), Baird (2), Caplen, (2), At-ken, Trimble, Parkinson (3), Atkinson, Nadler, Bayly, Chettle.
