

white Liberty silk softened with lace; and her sister, Miss Ella Brigham, wore a pretty white silk with chiffon; Mrs. Gillilan, black satin with transparent lace sleeves and yoke, cluster of blue hydrangea on bodice; Miss Gillilan looked sweet in pink glace toned with white lace; Miss Dugan Gillilan wore white silk relieved with pale blue; Mrs. John Beale, black net finished with jet, pretty yellow roses in hair and in coiffure; Miss Beale, looked nice in black silk with white lace and pale blue on bodice; Miss Estlin Beale, was prettily frocked in a pale shade of pastel blue; Miss O'Neill, rich black silk toilette, the bodice draped with cream lace; Miss Cowan looked very well in cream with lace berthe caught with tangerine; Miss Miss Alina Cowan wore white silk; Mrs. Lindsay, black crepe de chine trimmed with satin ribbon and softened with chiffon; Miss Lindsay, wore black crepe de chine brightened with pink roses, pink roses in her hair; Miss Hill, white be-ribboned net over glace silk, with crimson roses on bodice; Mrs. Hunt, black prettily contrasted with cream lace; Mrs. Hunter wore a graceful black gown with black transparent yoke; Mrs. Harry Mackay, brown silk grenadine toned with shades of yellow; Miss Denniston looked charming in black net laced with satin ribbon, relieved with white chiffon tucker; Mrs. Kissling, rich black silk; Mrs. Harold Kissling wore a dainty white silk with clusters of roses on corsage; Miss Kissling, wore black; Mrs. Paulson, black silk with beautiful real lace fichu; Mrs. Bay, black satin the bodice veiled in silver net; Mrs. Carlton Bay wore black velvet outlined with cream lace; Mrs. Pullen, black crepe de chine with iridescent embroidered net; Mrs. Bartholme, black Louise silk with jetted lace vest; Mrs. Grierson, rich black silk toilette, softened with white chiffon; Miss Grierson wore a pretty pale pink silk and a Victorian scarf of Roman chiffon; Mrs. Harry Bloomfield, shirred black net over glace foundation; Mrs. Cheeseman, grey broadened silk finished with black, cluster of violets on corsage; Mrs. Nichol, handsome wine-colored brocade, softened with cream lace; Mrs. Charlie McCormick, white soft silk, with lace berthe; Mrs. W. Nichol, white corded silk with cross over bodice; Mrs. Robert Dargaville, black silk and chiffon; Mrs. Hood, black satin softened with chiffon; Mrs. Goodhue, rich claret-colored silk, combined with velvet; Mrs. Cuff, black silk and lace; Miss Cuff, black mervilleux with black lace encrustations, pink crush rose on bodice; Miss Cole, cream voile with cream lace Victorian yoke, and tangerine corsage; Miss Cole, grey brocade contrasted with black; Miss McDermott, black with pale blue choux; Mrs. Rich, black brocade, with lovely lace scarf; Mrs. Arnold, black be-ribboned net over glace silk; Mrs. Lusk, black silk and chiffon; Miss Lusk, black; Miss Mabel Ansley wore black crepe de chine, relieved with white, and trimmed with black satin ribbon; Miss Mowbray, white broadened with black lace medallions; Miss Daisy Mowbray, pretty cream net over white silk, with pink roses on bodice; Mrs. Duffie, white silk and chiffon, and pink roses in hair and on corsage; Mrs. Wilfrid Colbeck, black crepe de chine; Mrs. Percy Butler, black silk with tasteful black and white fichu caught with yellow roses; Mrs. Jack Reed looked charming in heliotrope silk with lovely lace on bodice; Miss Pickering, dainty yellow silk; Miss Moss, black net; Miss Amy Moss, white corsage with satin corsage and touches of black; Mrs. Cuffler, lovely black silk trimmed with chiffon and Roman embroidery; Miss Cuffler, dainty pink crepe de chine with soft lace berthe; Mrs. Birch wore a picturesque gown of pearl grey silk, toned with cream lace; Mrs. Atkins, azure blue crepe de chine contrasted with cream applique; Miss Abbott, black silk with lovely real lace berthe, and tangerine corsage; Miss Abbott, white prettily combined with yellow; Miss Gaudie, blue silk profusely trimmed with cream insertion; Miss Elsie Gaudie, white silk with pale blue choux and corsage; Mrs. Russell, very pretty black lace with shirred chiffon on bodice; Mrs. Sengar, beautiful black Louise silk with cream lace on bodice, and bunches of blue velvet; Mrs. Pavitt, cream voile trimmed with chiffon and black Louis seize bows, wreath of blue in hair; Mrs. Hankbert, handsome black silk toilette, with beautiful cream lace scarf; Mrs. Erson, black silk prettily combined with black net; Miss Mulvaney, black silk with cream insertion on bodice, relieved with pale blue velvet ribbon; Miss Agnes Mulvaney, wore black, trimmed with lace toned with salmon pink; Miss Lawson, daffodil yellow silk, the bodice outlined with cream applique, leaf green velvet corsage; Mrs. Hudson Williamson, black and silver embroidered net over glace silk; Miss Shepherd, black silk, with chiffon fichu and V shaped vest; Mrs. Rice, handsome black silk toilette, with cream lace yoke and clusters of pink roses; Miss Rice was effectively gowned in primrose silk, with shaded yellow and brown velvet poppies on corsage; Miss Madge Rice, dainty cream silk, with yellow corsage bouquet; Miss Mah. Rice, soft white silk, with green velvet on bodice; Mrs. Marriner, handsome white corded silk, with fagottated seams and chiffon softening the bodice; Mrs. Walter Dufaur, black net, trimmed with jet; Mrs. Ernest Dufaur, black mervilleux, with gathered transparent yoke; Mrs. Percy Dufaur, black Louise silk over glace foundation, the bodice veiled in net; Mrs. Abison, striking gown of grey and heliotrope floral silk, trimmed with lovely lace; Miss Abison, buttercup yellow silk, relieved with black, wellow bow in coiffure; Mrs. Leathem, white crepe de chine, with pointed corselet belt of spangled chine silk; Mrs. Dawson, rich black velvet, with white lace on bodice; Mrs. Colegrove, reseda green Ottoman silk, with cross-over blouse; Miss Banks, black silk, smartly trimmed with jetted lace; Mrs. Brooke-Smith, black, with white chiffon yoke; Miss Brooke-Smith, soft white silk, brightened with pale blue choux; Mrs. Andrews, black evening toilette of silk and net; Mrs. Anson, pale apricot silk; Mrs. Nelson, black silk, with corsage spray of violets; Miss Katie Nelson, dainty white silk and lace; Mrs. Morrishy, black, brightened with jet; Mrs. McDowell, black; Miss King, soft white silk, with corsage bouquet of pink roses; Miss May Kissling dainty white spotted mousseline de soie, trimmed with scroll work of rich ribbon; Mrs. R. A. Carr, pretty pale blue satin, with lace berthe; Mrs. Charters, black silk and net toilette; Mrs. Hudson, graceful black gown; Miss Blades also wore black; Mrs. Friend wore white silk and lace, brightened with ciel blue; Miss Aston, black satin, with rosette of black tulle outlining decolletage; Mrs. Ashton, blue shirred silk, with pretty cross-over blouse; Miss Gore Gillon looked charming in pink Oriental satin, inset with cream insertion; Miss Ward, black satin, with tucker and sleeves of black gathered tulle; Miss Pulling, graceful chine silk toilette, finished with lace; Miss Bagnall, handsome black satin, the yoke filled in with lace transparencies; Miss Mirams, soft white silk, with pink sash; Mrs. Boulton, black; Miss Boulton, pink soft silk, with pink roses on bodice and in coiffure; Mrs. Mirams black silk, with clusters of violets; Mrs. Atkinson, black brocade, with black lace on bodice; Miss Atkinson wore black, with cream applique outlining the decolletage, threaded with tangerine velvet; Mrs. Thornes wore a handsome black gown, finished with jetted lace; Miss Thornes, pretty pale blue frock, toned with lace; Miss Basley wore black, with wreath of green leaves on bodice and in coiffure; Mrs. Thomas wore an effective gown of poppy-red tulle, combined with velvet of same shade; Mrs. Charles Palmer, lovely blue crepe de chine, with lace encrustations; Mrs. J. Palmer, pink crepe de chine; Mrs. W. J. Palmer, black silk, with dainty lace cap; Miss Brown, black satin, with cream insertion on bodice, hand-ome black satin opera coat, with cream lace berthe; Mrs. Devore, lovely white brocade, relieved with black; Mrs. Turner, white silk, overlaid with panels of black Chantilly lace; Miss Turner was dainty in soft white silk; Mrs. Henderson wore a handsome black silk, with cream lace and insertion on bodice; Mrs. Annroe, in black satin, with pretty white chiffon fichu; Mrs. Charlie Buddle, pale blue crepe de chine over blue glace; Mrs. Buddle, black merv., with encrustations of cream lace; Miss George was in white Liberty satin, with pretty lace and Victorian scarf; Mrs. Evecheld, beautiful white satin, with lace encrustations; Miss Towle wore a pretty Romney gown of grey glace silk; and her sister was picturesquely gowned in pink silk; Miss Dudley wore cream voile, with encrustation of eeri lace; Mrs. Buck, hand-ome black broadened silk toilette; Mrs. Haseldene, black silk, with pink roses; Miss Haseldene, pretty silk frock, with lace encrustations and clusters of pink roses; Miss Phillips, cream net, relieved with pink, and pink corsage; Miss Wood, pink chaille, with cream lace transparencies; Miss Lodge, black velvet gown, with cluster of roses in front of bodice; Miss Roskrige, black silk, with beautiful lace berthe, caught with red roses; Mrs. Mackay, black satin, with gathered net yoke and transparent sleeves; Mrs. Allom, rich black silk, with V-shaped vest of gold embroidered net; Mrs. Ellis, black and white toilette; Miss Hewson, cream voile, with black and white spotted berthe, with tangerine velvet choux; Mrs. Phillips, handsome black gown, with white chiffon and lace fichu; Mrs. Fraser, black crepe de chine, the bodice made with frilled berthe, edged with buttercup lace; Mrs. Ivo Evans, pretty white taffeta gown, with corsage spray of clusson roses; Mrs. Morrow, black silk, relieved with touches of pale pink; Miss Morrow, dainty black soft silk, with blue choux; Mrs. Bruce, rich black satin, the corsage outlined with pale blue roses.

Amongst those present on Wednesday evening at the last of the receptions given by Bishop and Mrs. Neligan, I noticed His Lordship Bishop Lenihan, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Myers, Mrs. Louis Myers, Mr. and Mrs. Coleman, Mr. and Mrs. George George, Dr. and Mrs. Robertson, Mrs. Steele, Mr. and Mrs. Gossett, Miss Mowbray, Mr. John Mowbray and his daughter Miss Daisy Mowbray, Mr. and Mrs. Templar, Mrs. Keesing and the Misses Keesing, Mr. and Mrs. Brett, Miss Gill, Mrs. and Miss Kate White, Mr. and Mrs. John Kenderline, Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Stevenson, Mr. and Mrs. Frater, Mrs. Kenderline, Miss Halle Kenderline, Mrs. Scott, Mrs. Gerald Clarke, Rev. Mr. and Mrs. Macfarlane, Rev. Mr. Snow, Mr. Grosman, Mr. and Mrs. Kent, Mr. and Mrs. A. V. McDonald, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Robertson, Dr. McKellar and Miss F. McKellar Kissling, Mr. and Mrs. Roberts, Mr. and Mrs. Daere, Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Craig, Mr. and Mrs. Cobbett, Mr. and Mrs. H. Connell, Miss Hazeldene, Mrs. Asdwell, Mr. Gresham, Mr. and Mrs. Lasearon, Mr. B. Lasearon, Mr. and Mrs. Dixon, Mr. and Mrs. Archdale Taylor, Mrs. Calder, Miss Ludbrook, Dr. and Mrs. Walker, Mr. and Mrs. Rose, Mrs. Bruce, Miss Bruce, Mr. Bruce, Miss Pulling, Dr. Brown Campbell, Captain Robinson, Rev. Mr. Flavell, Mrs. Gillett, Rev. Mr. Palmer, Mr. and Mrs. Rollett, and many others.

The young people of North Shore organised a

MOST ENJOYABLE DANCE,

which took place last Friday. The hall looked very pretty with its decorations of greenery and strings of Chinese lanterns. The music provided by Marriage was excellent, and a very dainty supper was provided by our young hosts. The dance was got up by the younger boys of the district, assisted by a committee of girls, and between them they certainly managed to make the affair a great success. Of course, they invited a number of "grown ups," but the floor was not a bit overcrowded, which was undoubtedly an unusual treat. Among the guests I noticed, Mrs. Napier, wearing a very pretty pale pink silk blouse, and black silk skirt laced with rows of satin ribbon; Mrs. Gaudie, handsome black glace silk relieved with white lace; Mrs. Metcalfe, black silk Romney toilette, the skirt frilled and trimmed with velvet ribbon; Miss Matthews, rich black black silk; Miss Rogan was richly gowned in black chiffon over glace silk, with touches of white on bodice; Miss K. Rogan wore a pretty ciel blue shirred silk; Miss V. Lewis, pale pink silk, with cream lace berthe; Miss P. Metcalfe was prettily frocked in pale pink silk, finished with net frills and satin ribbon; Miss K. Graham wore an effective cerise silk gown; Miss P. Lewis, pale blue silk, the bodice softened with cream lace; Miss Daisy Wallace looked sweet in white muslin, prettily inserted with lace; Miss F. MacIndoe, cream satin, with heliotrope ribbons; Miss Lucilla Rogan looked very pretty in white mousseline de soie; Miss P. Gaudie, soft white silk, with violet ribbons; Miss B. Graham, dainty white muslin, brightened with blue ribbons; Miss Gladys Graham, pink crepe de chine; Miss E. Davies, white silk, with touches of tangerine; Miss T. Dickey looked charming in cream with corsage spray of crimson roses; Mrs. Wall, cream shirred satin; Miss Metcalfe, pink flowered silk, with clusters of pink roses on bodice; Mrs. Jessie Frater, white tuckered silk; Miss Minnie Frater wore a pretty turquoise blue silk; Miss Gwen Hill, white silk, with accordion-pleated frills; Miss Dolly Metcalfe wore a picturesque green silk Romney gown; Miss P. Cardno, black; Miss Gladys Howarth, cream silk, with blue sash; Miss T. Allison, pretty pale blue saunay pleated silk; Miss M. Allison, white muslin; Miss E. Matthews, pretty sea green silk; Miss Tanton, cream crepe de chine; Miss W. Kent, white, relieved with touches of salmon pink; Miss Cooke, white silk, prettily contrasted with yellow; Miss N. Graham, rich white taffeta silk; Miss Adams, soft white silk; Miss Brassey, pale pink silk, finished with cream insertion; Miss Dunning wore her delicate gown of soft white silk; Miss Allison, cream silk, with cerise velvet corsage. Amongst the gentlemen present were: Messrs. Mackay (2), Hesketh, Davies (2), Howarth, Metcalfe, Philson, Rogan, Rishworth, Warner, Best, Wall, Gaudie, Halliwell, George, Broadfoot, Walker, Holt, Sellars, and Wilson.

Last Tuesday, July 25th, Mrs. Caro gave a

MOST DELIGHTFUL DANCE

at her pretty residence, City Road. Two rooms, with folding doors between, were prepared for dancing, flags and hanging baskets of wattle and narcissi being used for decorating. The verandah, closed in with hunting, made charming resting places between the dances. The supper was served in a large marquee erected just off the verandah, and here the decorations were really lovely. A large hanging lamp lighted the marquee, from which were suspended yellow and violet ribbons; (the same shades being used for the floral decorations for the supper tables. The supper was a most dainty one. Mr. Armiger provided excellent music, and nothing was left undone that could in any way add to the enjoyment of the guests. Mrs. Caro received her guests in a charming gown of black silk net over glace foundation; Mrs. Barry Keesing was richly gowned in a black taffeta silk Romney toilette; Mrs. T. Keesing looked sweet in pearl white silk with accordion-pleated frills, the bodice was prettily finished with touches of silver embroidery; Miss Caro wore a dainty black be-ribboned net toilette with clusters of pale blue roses on corsage and in coiffure; Miss Vera Caro was daintily frocked in sky blue silk, prettily shirred and tucked; Miss Holland, pretty cream voile trimmed with silk ruchings; Miss Ehrenfried wore a handsome Brussels net gown, inset with insertion, mounted on satin ribbon; Miss Butters, rich white broadened silk; Miss Hudson, was effectively gowned in pale blue crepe de chine; Miss Moir, dainty can de nil silk, elaborately frilled; Miss B. Moir

YEARS OF PAIN.

FLATULENCE, LOST SLEEP AND APPETITE;

ALL PROMPTLY CURED

BY

MOTHER SEIGEL'S SYRUP.

"I endured years of fearful suffering from indigestion. It shut out the pleasure of life as fog blots out sunshine. I had frequent headaches, violent pains and distress in my stomach, risings of wind after eating, poor appetite and extreme debility and weakness. None of the many treatments I tried helped me, except for the moment. Often I was quite unable to do my household work. About 18 months ago I read of Mother Seigel's Syrup. I bought a bottle of it and I was surprised to discover that it helped me at once. I began to eat fairly well and gained weight and strength. Five bottles cured me completely and I have had no return of the ailments. Mrs. Emily Brown, of 64 Baptist St., Redfern, N.S.W.; letter of January 19, 1905

* Don't endure these or any other stomach troubles for a single day, when the infallible remedy, Mother Seigel's Syrup, can be had at small cost from every up-to-date Chemist. It has stood the test of 35 years' service.