Hurdle Race so fewer than forty-four, a record number for this particular svent. In the Steeplechase he has had to deal with quite a number of practically unshown quantities so far as cross country work is concerned, but they have mearly all bean seen over hurdles, and the fact that they are entered for the Steeplechase suggests that their owners are satisfied that they possess the necessary qualification to ascend and descend the hill, and there is a good deat in this, and negotiats the not difficult facess on the Burralle course. Eleven of the horses are satisfied that they possess the necessary conditions to see the necessary constitution of the course before, some of the course before, some of the course before, some of the course the horth New Zeal of the cone in public. There are two previous winners of the Auricle Race there are a dozen or more engaged that are beginners, and a few that have had but little experience in public. There are two previous winners of the New Jealsud Grand National Hurdles in Haydn, and two wo previous winners of the New Zealsud Grand National Hurdles in Haydn, and two winners of the New Zealsud Grand National Hurdles in Haydn, and two winners of the New Zealsud Grand National Steeplechase in The Guard and Gobo amongst those engaged. There are many well-performed and decidedly userly horses engaged in both events, and the new aspirants for cross-country of the course engaged in the events and the new aspirants for cross-country of the new asp has yet been shown, to Molfaa, if they were not so at his age, and at least one horse superior to Cavallero over hurdles.

In placing Molfaa at the top of the list in the Steeplechase, I am in accord with Mr Evott, and I consider that every onnee Mr Ellingham's horse has earned has been given him, notwithstanding that he received and carried more weight successful on the flat country steeplechase course in Hawke's Bay. Though Cavallero has not been over country, and it would not have surprised me to see a lib. or two conceded by Molfaa, there is little cause for complaint on the part of Cavallero's owner seeing him on the same and the late of the same seeing him on the same carried to list the biggest weight yet carried to list and this face. Remembering the size and this face. Remembering the size and this face. Remembering the size and this face, and the North N.Z. ON. Horse and the fact that cavallero's allow the fact that he was the Remuera Hurdle race with 13.12 up, I am still of opinion that 136 is too great a weight to start an important event like the one under notice with, and it is to me positively absurd to call upon Cavallero, good horse though he is, to give just on 3st. to such horses as Highlander and Mars, to say nothing of much greater allowances to so many horses that have been racing with success on the flat. Coour do Lion, a fair flat performer, possibly no better than Highlander, and one that was not a good jumper, whose fencing caused him much effort, was equal to beating Cavallero at this season of the year. Highlander with Hibs less on his back, and Mars with libs less on his back, and Mars with 150s less than Coour de Lion, a fair flat performer, possibly no better than Highlander and so the contract of the year. Highlander with Hibs less on his back, and Mars with 150s less than Coour de Lion, should hold Cavallero safe enough, especially as that horse has fibm ore than he carried into third place. Cavallero would require to hoase a great deal below the forn they have since been showin horses a great deal below the form they have since been showing.

It is not my intention to go into an exhaustive analysis of the weights in this issue, as I propose returning to the subject text week, but there are some points that may be touched upon. A comparison of the respective imposts of horses engaged in both events shows that Cavaltico and Waiwera have each received may be touched upon. A comparison of the respective imposts of horses angaged in both events shows that Cavaltico and Waiwera have each received has the Great Northern Steeple-Chase than the Hurdle race; Tim, who is a malden the Hurdle race; Thue, Reliman, may lead to the sweight in the Steeplechase than the Hurdle have more weight not the same weight reacted as a light of other days, and Tawara and Sudden, in contradistinction to those already mentioned, have more weight in the cross country race than in the Hurdle Race. These things may be capable of explanation, but some people angish wonder at such striking differences, which will be more readily seen by setting out the figures thus:

— Steeple-

		Hurdle	Steeple-

Mr Evett recently handcapped Evening Wonder at 11.12 for the Avondale Steeple-chase and Rufus at 19.10, a difference of sibs. Evening Wonder started favourate and ran off at the third fence, and Rufus did not compete. Now we find the pair set to meet at a difference of sibs. Sudden, who did not run, was there set to give Rufus 40s, and is now set to receive Sibs. Nother horse, have started since they were handkrapped. Princess of Thulle was asked to give the same horse they were handkrapped. Princess of Thule was asked to give the same horse they were handkrapped. Bitthe matters that they have a six of the same horse they have a six of the same horse that they have a six of the same horse for the same horse as all the matters that they did not meet; neither has run they shall be seen as a six of the same horse stand. Then, again, if we look a few weeks back to the handicapping of Hayon and Waiwera in the hurdic races at Eliersia and the running of these horses and the west and Eoral Consultation of the terms of the remarks and Royal Consultation between and Royal Consultation of the Consultation of the Same remarks apply to some of the adjustments for the Wanganut and the Auckland hurdic events—handicaps, too, that must have been made about the same time. As I have said before, I intend returning to the subject, but I may here mention that I regard Waiwers as about the best handicapped horse in both races, though I do not recommend him to backers, as he was sore when here lead. In the Steeplechase the three top weights, Moltas, Cavaliero, The Guard; Frincess of Thule, Evenium Wooder, and Rutus are the half-form that have come under my notice, and some of the others, it is quite on the cards, may turn out well. Of those in the Hurdie Race I am not partial to the chances of the top weights. Mars should beat anything above him, unless High-lander has taken kindly to the game. These horses, with Frost, Oracie, Stratfmeirn, Reclaimer, and some of the others hitherto only known on the fist, may furnish the winner.

nairn. Reclaimer, and some of the others nitherto only known on the flat, may furnish the winner.

A peculiar betting dispute—in which a well-known Tasmanlan sportsman and a prominent Melbourne commission agent are concerned—has, says the 'Age,' lately engaged the attention of the Victorian Club Committee. It appears that the fortunate drawer of Wakeful in Tattersali's consultation on the Sydney Cup, after generously laying portion of his anticipated winnings to the stable, telegraphed to the commission agent, whom he believed to be at Randwick, authorising him to lay £500 against Wakeful. The agent, however, was in Melbourne at the time, but the telegram was opened by a relative of his, who promptly replied that he signed this telegram with his even and not hat of the agent and most and the chain after Wakeful had won the Original measage had been addressed. The agent, and not the telegram with his whom the original measage had been addressed. The second of the chain after Wakeful had won the Cup, but the holder the hid won the Cup, but the holder the hid won the Cup, but the holder the demand for the £500 this telegram was a private message the heapen in question, and he had no business with any third party. As the agent in question, and he had no heapen the agent in question, and he had no heapen was not at Randwick, the instructions, he contends, were null and void. He further justifies his position on the ground that had Wakeful not won the lucky drawer of the mare in the sweep fails to see how he could, in the circumstance, and as this was refused he declined to submit himself to the jurisdiction of the commission agent was entitled to the Victorian Club Committee for settlement. The sweep winner applied for permission seel, and as this was refused he declined to submit himself to the jurisdiction of the commission agent was entitled to the Cip. The winner of the sweet has himself to the jurisdiction of the commission agent was entitled to the commission agent was entitled to the lates of the commission a

AUCKLAND TROTTING CLUB.

AUCKLAND TROTTING CLUBAUTHUM MEETING.

This meeting was brought to a conclusion yesterday, and the weather proved disagreeable, rain failing more or less searly at intervals during the afternoon. The track was much cut up, especially for the concluding events on the programme, and many of the horses were apparently unable to act on the heavy going. The sum of £2551 was passed through the totalisator, making £4888 for the meeting, being £512 short of last year. The last race was started so late that it was almost dark when the horses were competing. The business of the afternoon was somewhat retarded by the weather, and the hearing of objections against two of the runners for alleged inconsistency, which were not entertained. Charlestones, which were not entertained extended that he railoued, was held over till this afternoon. Some good dividends were returned during the afternoon, the hitherto disappointing Nat Gould being oil title fancled for the Trial Handicap, which he ran away with, that backers got £16 12/ for euch 10/ Invested, and backers of Duke C. In the Class Trot were rewarded by receiving £8 4/ for each ticket. Duke C. simply outstayed the opnosition, and was ridden by Mr McBride, ben, bis owner, who was congratulated on his success. Sierra stayed better than Lady Retford in the Easter Handicap, and the last named breaking when were provided that he assigned when the beauting the fair dividends. The Peny Trot was easily won by Look-on.

McClusky, who was disqualified by the Wellington Racing Club for his riding of Goldenmere in the North Island Challenge Stakes, has withdrawn his appeal. The reason for his action lies in the fact that the owner of Goldenmere (Sir Geo. Clifford) is the chairman of the Racing Conference, and would therefore have had to consider the appeal. McClusky, in a letter to the Wellington Club, retterates his innocence, and his protest is warmly supported by Sir George Clifford, who asserts his belief that the lad is not guilty. CHRISTCHURCH, Tuesday,

The weather on Baturday morning pro-mised none too well for the Christchurch Racing Club's Autumn Meeting, but it cleared before noon, and remained fine throughout the afternoon. The attend-
