

The King has returned to Sandringham.

A strong branch of the Navy Lea-ue has been formed in Montreal.

Lord Hopetoun is gazetted Marquis of Linlithgow, and has accepted the presidency of the Australian Club.

King's College has appealed for half a million to endow a college seat in higher education.

The death is announced of Mr Leonard Browne, the celebrated throat specialist.

Chopyonghin, a pro-Russian, has been appointed Minister for Foreign Affairs in Korea.

The Canadian Dominion post office for the first time shows a slight sur-plus on the year's working.

Lord Strathcone states that the grain exports from Canada during the last financial year totalled a va-lue of 49,215,000 dollars.

President Castro has proclaimed that the rebellion in Venezuela has ended. The Government forces lately captured the strongholds of Mateo and dispersed the rebels.

Mr. Arnold Forster, Secretary to the Admiralty, has intimated that the new British scout steamers will carry 10 12-pounders and eight small automatic guns.

Mr Taylor. Conservative, has replaced Mr. Warr (resigned) in the by-election for Liverpool (East Toxteth), defeating Mr Rathbone by a majority of 377.

Germany is voting £200.000 for the expenses of participation in the St. Louis Exhibition. Prince Henry will attend the opening.

The sheihks and notables enthusi-astically welcomed Viscount Kitchen-er at Khartoum. While there he presented colours to the Soudanese regiment.

The principal main line companies propose to undertake tubing in London, linking the termini by means of primary circles, with cross tubes radiating to all populous centres.

Mr Herbert Samuel (Liberal), has been elected for Cleveland vice Mr Alfred Pease (resigned), defeating Mr Geoffrey Drage by a majority of 2036.

The Board of Trade returns for October show that the imports increased by £2,502,927 and the exports by £1,106,105.

Four thousand whites and negroes at Darling, Mississippi, burned a ne-gro to death at the strike. The negro had confessed to having robbed and murdered two whites.

Sixty ruling chiefs, mounted on elephants, will escort the Viceroy (Lord Curzou) and the Duke of Con-naught on their State entry into

Mr. Chamberlain has appointed committee to study the practicability of a gold standard currency being es-tablished in the Straits Settlements and the neighbouring Malay States.

Owing to the imprisonment of Dr. Tatarcheff and other Bulgarians in Greece, the Greek Consulate at Greece, the Greek Consulted at Varna, in Bulgaria has been attacked and anti-Greek riots have occurred at Burghas, attended by six fatalities.

Colonel Fontcheff, one of the leaders of the popular movement in Macedonia, attributes the collapse of the insurrection to the secession of Lt. Saratoff, who has formed a revolution committee on his own lines.

The bombardment of Midi, in the Red Sea, has ceased, the authorities having promised to surrender 11 Arab pirates who took refuge in a spot inaccessible to the Italian lumphers. launches.

Viscount Cranborne, in the House of Commons, announced that the general position of Britain regarding the Yangtse Valley was unchanged.

Authoritative rumours are circula-ted stating that the Kaiser, when at Sandringham, on his visit to England. intends to frankly discuss German and British relations with the Minis

The chief constructor of the Ame-The chief construction of the state rican navy complains that the strikes and the consequent inability to procure armour have much delayed the ship-building programme.

The Government has decided to tablish an agricultural high school for women—the first in Europe. The school will give special training in dairying, gardening, bees, poultry, cattle and sheep. Already 325 ladies have applied for admission.

In connection with the forgery case, Bernstein, a jeweller at Plymouth, has been arrested for forging and having in his possession forged Bank England notes to the amount of £ 40,000,

The Grand Duke Paulo, uncle of the Czar, has been dismissed from the army.

A mesalliance by marrying a divorced baroness is the cause of the dismissal from the army of the Grand Duke Paul (uncle to the Czar).

Russian nobles estates are being foreclosed on to an increasing extent for the improvement of the estates.
The huyers are largely of the rising middle class. The latest sales represent 2300 square miles.
The chairman and sold to recover Government loans for the improvement of the estates.

The chairman, in his address at the neeting of the shareholders of the The chairman in his address at the meeting of the shareholders of the English and Scottish Bank, said Australian borrowing would not meet with a good reception at present, but he thought an irrigation scheme to minimise the drought would be readily supported.

At the new trial of Roland Molineaux, who was sentenced to death at New York early last year for poisoning Mrs. C. G. Adams, Molineaux for seven hours was subjected cross-examination and created a favourable impression.

The tax collectors are compelling the Armenians to pay eighteen years' arreads of the military exemption tex, regardless of the thousands who were massacred or who have left the country because of persecution. In many instances this involves forfeture of the entire possessions of the accountry. defaulters.

Kuyoff, attached to the Russian Department of Agriculture, who was entrusted with the charge of a deentrusted with the energy or a de-putation of Russian farmers who are now visiting England, has by order of the Czar been requested to spend a year in Australia on a similar mis-sion, to study agriculture and the methods of raising cottle.

Sir Henry Campbell-Bannerman sir henry Campoel-Bannerman, addressing a meeting at the Alexandra Palace, protested against the Education Bill, and advocated a reduction of expenditure, the curtailment of armaments, and the avoidance of wild and disordered schemes of feeting as legiture. of foreign extension.

The edict ordering the punishment of the officials concerned in the murder of Messrs. Bruce and Lewis, missionaries, has profoundly impressed officialitom. It is interpreted as a decided diplomatic victory for Sir E. Satow, the British Ambassador.

The International Mercantile Syn-The International Mercantile Syndicate is so organised that it safe-guards British interests. It does not own White Star or other English allied companies' shares, which are in the hands of the English owners. The registered company is called "The International Navigation Company."

The Admiralty is forming a reserve of engineer officers for service in war time composed of mercantile marine and shore engineers. They will be trained for three months in the dock-yards and nine months at sea, and will receive 8/8 and 10/6 a day while training with an annual retainer thereafter of £15.

The commandants of the French submarines at the Cherbourg man-ocurres report that the battleships were never safe within the aubmarine radius. The action of artillery fire and the most careful look-outs kept aboard the battleships were quite ineffective. They declare that the battleships were only safe when close to the harbour entrances protected by electric wires.

The steam collier St. Regulus col-The steam collect St. Regulus col-lided off Dungeness, in the Straits of Dover, with the Spanish steamer Enero, striking the latter abaft the engine-room. The St. Regulus con-tinued to steam ahead after the coltinued to steam shead after the col-lision, with a view to keeping in the gap made in the other steamer, so as to enable the sinking Spaniard's crew to escape. The Spanish sailors became too terrified to avail them-selves of the opportunity, and the Enero went down. Only three out of her crew of 25 were rescued.

An Afghan merchant reports that the Ameer of Afghanistan is respond-ing to Russia's request that Russian caravans should be permitted to use the Khusk-Herat and Kabul routes, in order to cement closer commerin over to cement closer commer-cial relations. It is admitted here that the matter is of the utmost im-portance, but it is impossible to change the whole Afghan policy sud-denly. It is suggested that future communications should be made through the Indian Government.

"Vorwaerts," the German Socialists'

"Vorwaerts," the German Socialists' journal, states that M. Kuropatkin, the Russian Minister for War, in a confidential circular asks the district commanders to consider means of combatting the revolutionary agitation in the Russian army.

M. Kuropatkin states that the revolutionary Socialistic propaganda in the army is remarkably boid and widespread. The Socialists incite the privates against their commanders, and exhort them not to shoot peasants and workmen who are struggling in a righteous cause.

In some instances privates and noblemen serving in the ranks act as political agitators.

political agitators.

While thirty thousand people were watching the posting of election re-turns in Madison Square, New York, an explosion of freworks, which were being let off in honour of the return of the proprietor of the New York "Journal," killed twelve people and injured 50. A mortar accidentally discharged a heavy bomb into the thickest of the crowd, and a second thickest of the crowd, and a second and third bomb became ignited by sparks and exploded simultaneously, causing a wild stampede.

A later report states that eighty persons were injured by the explosion and seven in the hospitals had their legs amputated. Others lost both bands hands.

A Blue Book relating to the Colorial Conference contains a summary of the proceedings and the resolu-tions. The appendices cover the dis-cussion on military defence preced-ing the correspondence. The Blue ing the correspondence. The Bute Book is warmly acclaimed, es-pecially Mr. Chamberlain's open-ing address, Viscount Selborne's naval statement, Sir John Forresi's minute, and Mr. Broderick's caudid statement.

German newspapers make untriendly comments belitting the Imperial Conference Blue Book. The "Vossiche Zeitung" says that "Vossiche Zeitung" says that after Germany's retaliation Canada and the colonies will not venture to adopt the preferential principles enunciated at the conference.

The Government's amendments in favour of the municipal or county council appointing the local Education Committee, and delegating thereto any of the Council's powers other than fluancial, have been adopted in the House of Commons. Rating and borrowing are reserved to the Council, the latter to consult the committees on the subject, but the Council is free to disregard their recommendation. The Liberals welcomed the modifications, also a clause providing that a majority of the committees should be members of the Council, unless the Council decided otherwise.

In the House of Commons Mr Balfour gave notice to move on Tues-four gave notice to move on Tues-day to apply the guillotine to amendments on the Education Bill in order to have the third reading finished before December 5. Sir Henry Campbell-Bannerman announced his determined opposition to the proposal.

Henri Vidal has been sentenced to death for murdering and robbing several women at Nice. Vidal is described as a degenerate. He was arrested in January, having confessed to killing three sweethearts. At the conclusion of the trial a crowd of 5009 tried to lynch the prisoner, but the gendarmes protected him.

The British War Office has ordered two thousand pairs of patent pheumatic boot heels, the invention of Mr W. Lingard, of Wellington, New Zealand.

New Zealand.

[Mr Lingard left New Zealand some considerable time ago for Australia and England, in connection with his invention of pneumatic boot heels, and, Judging by the above cable, he appears to be meeting with considerable aucress. Evidently the Wat Office have decided to give the work of the considerable aucress. Evidently the Wat Office have decided to give the has strongly urged the adoption of these heels for military boots, contending that they would save intantry a great desi of fatiguo when on the march. Mr Lingard is an oid resident of Wanganui, and holds the New Zealand Cross, awarded him for bravery during the West Coast campaign against the natives in the sixthes, when he saved the life of a comrade in a Wanganui volunteer—eavairy corps. Prior to leaving New Zealand to push his livention alroad, he formed a syndicate, on shares, in the colony, to provide the in the colony, to provide the preliminary capital,

GENERAL CABLES.

CHAMBERLAIN'S VISIT.

Reserving opinion on Mr. Chamberlain's action on matters apart from the tour, the Birmingham Liberal Association has resolved to participate in a torchlight procession and in the non-party banquet to farewell the accredited representative of the nation on his visit to South Africa. A circular issued by the association explains that its action is based on the unanimous feeling that ciation explains that its action is based on the unanimous feeling that the journey is wisely conceived and that every Liberal is anxious for the fusion of parties in South Africa and in the interests of the race and to do the utmost to make Mr. Chamber-later rations are success, which is lain's mission a success, which is more likely if it is clearly under-stood that he represents all classes and parties desiring that South Afri-ca should settle peacefully into a self-governing and law-abiding com-ca should settle peacefully into a self-governing and law-abiding community.

The British cruiser Good Hope (which conveys Mr Chamberlain to South Africa) suils on the 25th inst. Mr Chamberlain hopes that the chief characteristic of his tour will be frank and confidential discussion with representative men of all classes, races and politics. He desires to avoid public functions: his tour is for business, not for show. He will spend a week or ten days in Natal, and then go to the Transvaal. Shortly after his return to the colony Mr Seddon received through the Deputy-Governor, an invitation he made personally on the eve of his departure from England, to Mr Chamberlain to visit the colonies, and yesterday he received the following reply:—"I am very grateful to New Zealand for the invitation conveyed in your telegram of the 1st November, and much regret the limited time at my disposal renders it impossible for me to accept.

The banquet to Mr. Chamberlain at Birminghum has been arranged for the 17th inst.

at Birminghum has been arranged for the 17th inst. Lord Tennyson, the Acting-Gover-nor-General, has received a cable om Mr Chamberlain regretting that ine will not allow of the extension of his present tour to Australia.

Disappointment is expressed at Capetown because the war-hip Good Hope, which takes Mr Chamberlain to South Africa, is to call at Durban force.

THE PACIFIC CABLE.

THE PACIFIC CABLE.

The Federal Postmaster (Mr. Drake) presided at the official opening of the Pacific cable at Southport, and sent messages to Sir Wiltrid Laurier and President Rosecwelt. The Mayor cabled to the Lord Mayor of London and the Mayor of New York.

Mrs. Drake cabled to Lady Hopetom, Lady Lamington, Mrs. Philp, and Mrs. Seddon. Telegrams were also despatched to other notabilities.

Sir Sandford Fleming sent to Lord