AUCKLANDER'S INVENTION.

A model of the patent prismatic roofing invented by Mr. John H. Beamish, of Auckland, was on view this week at the Horticultural Society's Show at Holland House. The Beamish system is not only suitable for horticultural buildings, but is eminently adaptable for other classes of roofing, such as railway station roofs, verandahs, shelters, etc. It has won highly favourable opinions from experts in London.

AUSTRALIAN RATE WAR.

The North German Lloyd Steamship Company has made an announcement which shows that difficulties have arisen between it and the British P. and O. and Orient Lines with reference to the Australian passenger trade.

In October next the German Company will cease to work in agreement with the British companies, and will cut the first cabin fare from Southampton to Commonwealth ports to £60, and the second cabin fare to £32 plus surtax of 10 per cent. The present rates are £15 and £38.

The North German Lloyd claim that, in view of the superior steamers, the P. and O. and Orient Companies now run to Australia, the German Company ought to be allowed to charge somewhat less. The English companies contend that rates by mail steamer should be the same whatever the flag, and a rate war is feared.

ORIENT LINE AND WIRELESS.

The steamers of the Orient Line are now being fitted with the Marconi system of wireless telegraphy. The Otranto, the first vessel of the line in which a wireless apparatus has been installed, left London on June 10. This vessel reports from Port Said that she was in communication with the signal station at Faldun, Cornwall, 1,500 miles off, the day before her arrival in Egyptian waters.

NATIONAL BANK OF NEW ZEALAND.

Presiding over the thirty-eighth ordinary general meeting of the National Bank of New Zealand, Ltd., which was held on July 5th, in London, Mr. Robert Logan said that the report was the best that the directors had ever presented. When last they met, New Zealand was suffering from a shortage of money, due partly to the American crisis, and partly to over-speculation in land. A short, sharp reaction followed, and things were now in a satisfactory position. At the end of last March deposits exceeded advances by six and a-half millions, this being due to an excess of four and a-half millions of exports, and a diminution of imports. This rush of trade, of which it might be a mistake to make too much, was due to a larger output, and to improved prices. The 50,000 new shares had been allotted, and the premium, £62,500, would be carried to reserve fund, which would then stand at £460,000, and from October 1st next the paid up capital would amount to £500,000. Their investments had nearly doubled, and a large amount was available to strengthen the Bank's position. The financial position was sound in New Zealand. Money for investment was plentiful, and land speculation was restricted. The farmer was making money, wealth and population were increasing, and they had had, on the whole, a very successful year. The political situation of the Labour party in New South Wales had caused some uneasiness in certain quarters in New Zealand, there having been an idea that the party might follow the example of the Labour party in Australia. The question of the maintenance of their staff had given their manager much anxiety, there being a certain amount of agitation and foment amongst the banking staffs in New Zealand, but they had not been unmindful of the interests of their fine body of men. They proposed to raise the annual dividend from 10 per cent to 12 per cent, and in doing so they showed that they would be able to pay at least 12 per cent on their increased capital. Having regard to this increase, however, they did not propose to pay a bonus this year.

The Hon. Seymour T. George said that they had nothing to fear from Labour troubles in New Zealand so long as they treated workmen worthily, and they were being educated up to the pitch of so treating them.

The report was adopted.

VOLUNTEER NOTES.

(By Rifleman.)
Captain R. Carpenter, A.A.G., has returned from a visit of inspection to the Thames district.
Mr. T. Beck, who has been defence store-keeper at Auckland for seven years, has been appointed quartermaster N.Z.M., with the rank of lieutenant.
After the lecture at the Officers' Club last week, Captain Bugger, who was recently married, has been requested by other officers with some plate, as an evidence of their good wishes for his future happiness and success.

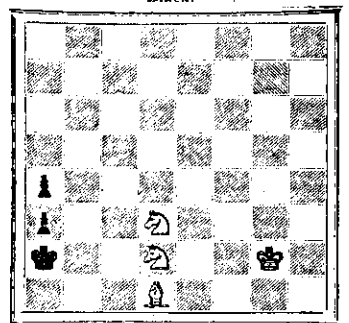

Captain J. T. Burnett-Stuart, the newly-appointed Director of Military operations for the Dominion, is at present on the staff of the Fourth Battalion of the Rifle Brigade (the Prince Consort's Own), now in Egypt. He is a graduate of the Staff College, and has also qualified as an interpreter of French (second class). He saw service with his battalion in South Africa, and was awarded a D.S.O. for gallantry in the field.
Captain Dugan, Engineering and Signalling Staff Officer, has been lecturing to the No. 3 Company Engineers for the past week. Signalling, the selection of camp sites, and water supply, formed the subject of one very interesting and instructive talk; and another useful talk was on the "The Construction of a High Command Rebound." He went minutely into the multifarious details of such an undertaking, and demonstrated the way to secure a maximum amount of safety, with a minimum amount of work. The Captain has also had a class of the staff-instructors in signalling, and it is hoped that the result will be that signalling throughout the district will receive a fillip. In addition to this work he has also been examining some of the King's College cadets, so that his time has been fully occupied.
Colonel G. W. S. Patterson, officer commanding the Auckland Division Garrison Artillery, has issued the following routine order: "A class of instruction for junior officers will be held at the divisional orderly room, Drill Hall, on Tuesday evenings, commencing Tuesday, August 10th, at 7.30 p.m. The attention of O.A.C. companies is specially directed to the unsatisfactory attendance of members of signalling sections of companies at the Wednesday evening signalling parades. O.A.C. companies are reminded that all examinations for proficiency wages and personal payments for the year must take place before the commencement of the annual camps, and that without regular and continuous training specialists have

O.A.C. companies are directed to take steps to have such portions of divisional orders as concern N.C.O.'s, and men read on the first two parades after issue. O.A.C. companies are reminded that all correspondence on divisional matters should be addressed to the Adjutant, Auckland Division G.A.T., Devonport.
Everybody with the welfare of the Territorials at heart will be more than sorry that Colonel Davies has been lost to the Dominion. Many of the officers and men were looking to him to give the new scheme a big help when he returned from his course of training in the Old Country, and the news of his appointment to a command in England came as a great shock. There is only one opinion on the matter right through the Dominion. A Wellington paper, under the heading "Bad Business," says: "Colonel Davies was sent Home to Aidershot last year for twelve months' training, and during that period—the term has just closed—he drew the full salary of his position as Inspector-General—£225, increased in this year's Estimates to £225. We presume, further, that all his travelling and out-of-pocket expenses have also been paid.
