

WHERE RIVERS WIND AMID THE BUSH-CLAD HILLS.

"Steep hills, deep vales, extend here mile on mile,
Streams tinkle sweet in ferny far recesses,
Where sombre bush, like Maori maidens' tresses, Hangs shimmering, glossy in the Sun God's smile."
—J. Liddell Kelly.