

Faulkner, photo.

Here is the sacred matai tree in Hongi's Bush, near Rotorua, known by the Maoris as "Hinehopu." At its roots they place an offering of a handful of green leaves as they pass.