the very successful sire Melton, a good looking, sound horse, and a rare stayer, Seaton Delaval is pretty sure to make his mark at the stud, and, indeed, it is a long time since so good a horse was sent to New Zealand."

Melton was sold some years back to the Italian Government for £10,000, and English breeders have ever since been regretting that he was allowed to leave the country, as his stock have been uniformly successful. Owing to his being abroad, there were no two-year-olds to represent him in 1894, but in reviewing the racing season of that year, the London Times of December 14th, 1896, says:—

"Melton, with 23 winners of over £13,000, should be given precedence over Wisdom, for Best Man, who won 8 races, is undoubtedly his son, and as Melton's progeny have won £25,000 in the last two seasons, and have included such animals as Best Man, Avington, Bullingdon, and Indian Queen, it is easy to understand the regret felt at his being exported to Italy."

TREMS—50 guineas for single mares; 40 guineas two or more mares belonging to the same owner.

Suspicion, by Speculation

It will be noticed that Seaton Delaval is full of the most ashionable and best-staying English Flood, and it is, therefore, not surprising that he was a stayer of the first water. Seaton Delaval won as a two-year-old, as a three-year-old, and as a four-year-old, as a three-year-old, sound in wind and limb. For quality and beauty of outline it would indeed he difficult to match him, and he ought to be a most successful stallow. The most noteworthy of the many triumphs were winning the Great Northern Handicap of £500 at York, distance 12 miles, and in this race he beat the winners of the Chester Cup, of the Manchester Cup, and of the City and Suburban He also ran second in the Great Metropolitan Stake at Epsom, 21 miles, only beaten a head; and in that race had belind him the winners of the Great Yorkshire Handicap, of the Goodwood Stakes, and of the Northamptonshire Stakes. The London Sportsman of December 19th, 1894, writes as 1 10 ws 1-10 cm. A so on of the same owner.

SOULT, amongst numerous races, won the Lane Stakes of 500 sovs, Liverpool Stewards' Stakes of 500 sovs, Ovingdon Stakes of 250 sovs, The Match (at Newmarket) of 300 sovs, and Brighton Flate of 150 sovs. In these races he beat some of the beat horses running in England, viz.—Worcester (City and Suburban Handicap), Eylvanus, Fatherless (winner of Great Metropolitan), Simony, Son of a Gun, El Diablo, Perigora, Miss Butterwick (Oaks winner), Gang Awa (Goodwood Cup winner), Marcion, Portrush, and several others, and was a good performer at all distances. St. Simon, the sure of Soult, is at the head of winning sires in England, and the few sons of St. Simon at the stud in England—St. Serf, Haut Baron, and Adieu—have proved themselves winner-producers. In fact, St. Serf is second on the list of winning sires, his sire holding premier position. St. Simon, the champion of England, being the sire of Soult, must impress upon owners of thoroughbred mares the advisability of making an early application for this valuable young and fashionable stallion's services.
