

Thus Handicapper J. E. Henrys on the subject of stipendiary stewards: "The stewards of the various clubs could not be expected to be cognisant of the tactics of the jockeys and owners. In West Australia there are four clubs, which have appointed three men at £700 per annum each, and they have full control of the racing. That was what was wanted here. Nothing could improve the racing along this coast more than the adoption of such a course. The more I see of racing the more I am convinced that the sooner we have paid stewards the better it will be for the purity of the sport. I would like to see the clubs make this a matter of urgency." And so say all of us.

The champion Poseidon is again having a spell at Windsor. He might be all the better for a lengthy holiday (says the "Referee"), but in all probability he will be called upon to act in the weight-for-age races in the autumn, and no doubt he will hold his own, too. So far, Poseidon has competed in 27 races, which is four more runs than Carbine had during the same period in his career.

Recently asked as to how he would handicap Carbine, Abercorn, Wakeful and Poseidon, all at their best, over 2 miles, Terlinga, of the "Australasian," says:—"We'll, assuming that the race was run with a pacemaker to force it, as Anteus forced it for Abercorn in the Melbourne Stakes of 1889, I would place them something like this: Carbine, 10st 5lb; Abercorn 10st 5lb; Wakeful, 9st 12lb; and Poseidon, 9st 5lb. Tom Hales never seemed decided as to which was the best horse he ever rode, but he repeatedly told me that Abercorn was the best stayer he had ever been on. 'I never was on a horse who could last so long on his top,' Hales used to say, and those who remember 'old Abe's' long runs after The Charmer in the autumn, and Sincere in the spring, will have no difficulty in believing this. Abercorn lacked the dash of Carbine and Wakeful, but he could stay for ever, and I verily believe he would have won the Melbourne Cup of 1889, with 10st 10lb if he had been started. Carbine run second with 10st, and Abercorn was a good deal better than Carbine at that particular meeting. At the time Revenue was ruined in the Australian Cup, he was considered better than Wakeful at two miles, but Wakeful was never seriously trained for a distance until Revenue was laid on one side. Of course, other people will have other ideas as to the relative merits of these horses, but my correspondent asked for my opinion, and I have given it purely on the assumption of the race being a strongly-run two miles." I am prepared to support the Australian writer in his estimate of the top weights. I saw them run in nearly all their races in Australia, and could never come to a conclusion as to which was the better horse. Possibly Abercorn had the preference chiefly perhaps because Hales was a better horseman than Ramage.

We have "tipsters" in this country, more's the pity (says an American writer). They have curious experiences, but I doubt if many can equal the following:—A lady writes without sending any cash: "Please put me every day as much money on the favourite as will win 25dol. If it loses, kindly invest enough to win back losses, and still to win 25dol. Continue this in every race until a favourite wins, and then stop. As one favourite is sure to win every day, please mail me the winnings every night, less 5dol, which I allow you for commission. Sincerely your, —" Sounds quite risky, doesn't it?

The following is from a San Francisco paper:—"Poughkeepsie, New York, October 24.—Major Delmar defeated Sweet Marie in a match race for a purse of 2500dol. on the Hudson River Driving Park yesterday afternoon, winning two out of three heats. The race resulted in the three fastest heats ever trotted on the track in a race. About 1500 persons saw the match. Major De'mar drew the pole, and had a length the advantage at the quarter. The Major led all the way. It was a great race in the home stretch, both drivers urging their horses, and Delmar won by a neck. In the second heat Delmar broke on the word, and lost the lead at the half. Sweet Marie led by two lengths at the upper turn, and maintained the distance to the finish. McDonald stole the pole for the third heat on the turn, and was two lengths in the lead at the quarter. Andrews moved up a little on the back stretch, and was only a length back at the half. At the three-quarters the horses were on even terms, but, entering the stretch, the mare broke, and De'mar won easily by two lengths. Summary.—Match race for 2500dol., best two in three: Major Delmar, by De'mar (McDonald), 1, 2, 1; Sweet Marie, b m, by McKinney (Andrews), 2, 1, 2. Times, 2:74, 2:63, 2:64.
