

New Zealand's Roll of Honour.

Captain Ralph Wyman, 3rd Auckland Mounted Rifles, wounded in the left arm, is at present in No. 2 Australian Hospital, Ghezireh, Cairo. He is the second son of Mr. W. H. Wyman, of Avondale South, and was born in Auckland. For some time he was on the staff of the N.Z. Loan and Mercantile Agency Company, and resigned to join the 8th Contingent for the Boer War. On his return he engaged in farming operations at Razorback, Pokeno. He has always taken a keen interest in military affairs, and was captain of the Pukekohe Mounted Rifles. His work during the visit of Lord Kitchener received special commendation. On the outbreak of the present war Captain Wyman left his property at Otorohanga and joined the Main Expeditionary Force.

Captain Rogers Wm. Wilkinson, who has been seriously wounded in the face by shrapnel, was born in Otago. He received his education at the High School, Dunedin. One of his brothers is Mr. John Wilkinson, solicitor, Dunedin. Captain Wilkinson took part in the Boer War as a member of a New Zealand contingent. When the European war broke out he went with the N.Z. Expeditionary Force to Samoa and was in charge of a machine gun section. He returned to New Zealand last December, and was at Trentham camp until last April, when he accompanied the N.Z. Reinforcements to Egypt. He was in charge of the N.Z. Reinforcements camp at Zeitoun for about two months, and upon the arrival of the 5th Reinforcements in Egypt he was ordered to the Dardanelles along with them.

Lance-Corporal Herbert Lyon, Auckland Infantry Battalion, who has again been wounded, is 34 years of age and was born at Stratford, England. He has resided in New Zealand for 25 years, and was educated at the Albany Street School, Dunedin. He saw active service in South Africa with the New Zealand Contingent. During the operations on Gallipoli he was wounded at Krithia in May last, and upon recovering went back to the firing line. Several weeks afterwards he was wounded a second time. He is the second son of Mrs. H. Lyon, of Brown Street, Ponsonby.

Armourer-Sergt. Herbert Springall Stratford, 1st Canterbury Mounted Rifles, slightly wounded, is 21 years of age, and is an engineer by trade. He was the first to enlist in Canvastown, and with the exception of two years at the Marlborough High School he has resided all his life in Canvastown.

Gunner H. V. A. Holderness, Otago Infantry Battalion, wounded, was born in Dunedin 25 years ago. He enlisted at Dunedin with the 4th Reinforcements, N.Z. Field Artillery, and was wounded in the left leg on July 28. He was a keen cricketer and Rugby player, having represented Otago juniors in both games.

Private Henry Lambert Heywood,

15th North Auckland Regiment, wounded, is the eldest son of Mr. Henry Heywood, and grandson of Mr. Oliver Heywood, an old Crimean veteran, still hale and hearty at 83 years of age. Private Heywood was born on May 5th, 1893, and lived in the North Albertland district until he was 18 years old, when he left to work for the Public Works Department at Otamatea. He was a well-known player in the Otamatea Rugby football team, and was one of the first to answer the call to arms. He joined the main body of the Expeditionary Force, and was wounded on May 4th in the left arm above the elbow by a shrapnel bullet. He rejoined his comrades at the front on July 7th, and was again wounded on August 1st. He has been a member of the North Auckland Infantry Battalion since the inauguration of the Territorial scheme.

Private W. L. Loughlin, Canterbury Infantry Battalion, who was previously reported dangerously ill, is a son of Mr. Thos. Loughlin, of Christchurch. He is 23 years of age, and prior to enlisting with the Main Expeditionary Force was engaged on the clerical staff of the Christchurch Meat Company. He took a keen interest in football and swimming, and for some time was a member of the Marist Old Boys' team.

Sapper C. B. Storer, Auckland section, N.Z. Engineers, who is reported to have died of enteric fever, was born at Waitara twenty-two years ago, being a son of Mr. C. E. Storer. When 18 years of age he joined the N.Z. Engineers, and was one of the very first to enlist when the war broke out. He was at the time employed by Messrs. Stonex and White as a sheet metal worker. He saw active service at Gallipoli prior to succumbing to an attack of enteric fever. Sapper Storer was well-known in athletic circles, and was a member of the boxing and gymnastic team at the Y.M.C.A.

Lieutenant Allan Norman Oakey, in charge of the Canterbury section of the N.Z. Field Engineers, wounded, is a son of the late Mr. A. H. Oakey, well-known in Christchurch. He was educated at the West Christchurch District High School, and afterwards at Digby's Commercial College. He was an enthusiastic officer in the Territorials and held a position in the Defence Office prior to his leaving with the Main Expeditionary Force. He was wounded on August 7, a bullet fracturing his left arm, and is now in the hospital at Alexandria.

Trooper William Douglas Cook, Wellington Mounted Rifles, wounded, is a sheep farmer of Eastwoodhill, Ngatapu, Gisborne, and is the son of Mr. Cook, relieving manager Bank of New Zealand. He is an old Wellington College Boy. He volunteered with the Legion of Frontiersmen at Gisborne, but when they were declined as a separate unit he joined the Main Expeditionary Force. He received a serious bayonet wound in a sham-fight in Egypt, and has now been wounded at the Dardanelles.

Corporal Andrew John Lowry, 6th Hauraki Regiment, wounded, is the youngest son of Mr. James Lowry, of Lauriston, Hikutaia, near Thames. He was born near Londonderry, Ireland, and came to New Zealand with his parents in the year 1904. He was educated at the Paeroa High School. When the war started he joined the 6th Hauraki Regiment and left with the Main Expeditionary Force as a private, though only 17 years of age. He was first wounded during an attack upon Achi Baba on May 8. In the same charge crossing the Daisy Patch his brother, S. T. A. Lowry, was killed in action.

Lieutenant A. D. Jack, Auckland Infantry Battalion, wounded, is a son of Mr. N. P. Jack, of Henderson, and a nephew of Mr. D. W. Jack, Mayor of Whangarei. He was born at Maunu, Whangarei, and is 23 years of age. He was educated at Maungatapu and at the Whangarei High School, and followed farming at Maungatapu, thence at Maungaturoto. Whilst at the latter township he was lieutenant in command of the senior cadets. For some time he was a member of the Marsden Mounted Rifles. He was in Auckland passing his examination for a first lieutenancy when the war broke out. He immediately offered his services, but being on the unattached list at the time he was passed over until the 5th Reinforcements.

Private E. R. Fitzsimons, Canterbury Infantry Battalion, wounded in foot, is a member of A Company, Main Expeditionary Force, and has been through the fighting scathless up till July 31. Private Fitzsimons was born in Christchurch 23 years ago. He was a prominent member of the Sydenham Football Club, playing five-eighths in the senior fifteen for two seasons. He was also a leading member of the Sydenham Swimming Club, carrying off, among other trophies, the Putman Cup for the quarter-mile swimming race, annually held at Redcliffs. His brother Harold, well-known in hockey circles, is at present in training at Trentham.

Corporal J. H. R. Stedolph, Wellington Infantry Battalion, wounded, was a member of the advance party of the New Zealand Expeditionary Forces which was sent to Samoa immediately upon the outbreak of the war. On returning to the Dominion he joined the Wellington Infantry Battalion, and left with the Third Reinforcements. He has had an excellent military training, having served for seven years in the volunteers and territorials. He is a crack shot with a rifle and as a recruit won the Challenge Cup, gold medal and six trophies. He is 24 years of age, and was educated at the Terrace High School, Wellington. He served his apprenticeship with Messrs. Cable and Co. in Wellington and passed his examination as a marine engineer. He took part in the operations at the Dardanelles, and finally, on August 7, fell wounded in two places. Corporal Stedolph's father, who is secretary to the New Zealand Association of His Majesty's Veterans, saw active service during the Maori War.

Corporal A. O. Christensen, Wellington Infantry Battalion, took part in the landing at the Dardanelles. He was taken ill in the trenches and carried on board the hospital ship Silicia, where he died of typhoid fever on July 31. The late Corporal Christensen was buried at sea. He was 24 years of age, and was greatly esteemed by his comrades, to whom his conscientious devotion to duty and unassuming manner endeared him.

Private Douglas Pirie Clark, D Ruahine Company, Wellington Infantry Battalion, wounded, left Wellington with the main Expeditionary Force. He is 23 years of age and is the second son of Mr. J. P. Clark, Strathallen, Featherston. He was educated at the Pahiatua High School, and was well known in the Apiti district.

Private Alex. Hendry, Otago Infantry Battalion, wounded, left with the Third Reinforcements. He is the youngest son of the late Mr. George Hendry, and was educated at the Mosgiel School. He was employed in the bakery business at Mosgiel for some time; and for the last few years followed his trade in Marlborough, Ohakune, and latterly in Dunedin.

Private Edmund Lincoln Gale, Canterbury Infantry Battalion, wounded, was a member of the main Expeditionary Force. He is 24 years of age, and is the third son of Mr. W. T. Gale, of the staff of the Magistrate's Court, Christchurch. He was born at Addington, and received his education at the Addington Public School. He was an engineer by trade, and served his apprenticeship with Messrs. Booth, McDonald and Co., Sydenham. His brother, Ralph Jocelyn Gale, is with the Engineers, 4th Reinforcements, now at the Dardanelles.

Sergeant F. H. Quinton, Canterbury Infantry Battalion, wounded, left with the Fourth Reinforcements. He is 24 years of age, and is a son of Mrs. B. Quinton, 97 Kilmore Street, Christchurch. He is well known in Christchurch as a hockey player, belonging to the Selwyn Street Club, and was also a representative of the Canterbury Hockey Association. He toured the North Island with the Canterbury hockey team in 1913. Five years ago he was well known in the Bay of Plenty district as a Rugby footballer, being one of the representatives of that province who played against the Maori team at that time. He was also a prominent hockey player, swimmer, oarsman and Marathon runner in Tauranga. He received his education in Christchurch.

Trooper Norman Maisey, Wellington Mounted Rifles, who died from wounds received while fighting at the Dardanelles, was 21 years of age, and had been in the firing line since the landing at Gaba Tepe. In private life he for many years followed the farming industry with his father, always taking a keen interest in any sports of the district, being particularly fond of cricket and football. At the age of 19 he journeyed South, latterly residing in Eltham, where he enlisted.

GROUP TAKEN AT THE RECENT INTERNATIONAL TUG-OF-WAR AT NAPIER OF THE TEAMS THAT CONTESTED THE SEMI-FINALS AND FINAL, TOGETHER WITH OFFICIALS AND PRESS REPRESENTATIVES. This competition, the final pulls in which aroused keen interest, was held in connection with the Napier Winter Industrial Exhibition, promoted by the Napier 30,000 Club in aid of the Wounded Soldiers' Fund, and was won by the Allies Team.