

PETROL'S PART in the GREAT WAR

"BIG TREE" Benzine is being used in great quantities in New Zealand's Military Camps for Staff Despatches, urgent Motor Ambulance work, and heavy haulage, because it can be thoroughly depended upon under all conditions, and because every drop is a pure double-distilled Spirit.

BOMBARDIER MACKAY, R.N.Z.A., writes:—

"Probably you are unaware that I am touring the North Island on "Departmental Duty, and I cannot let the occasion pass without informing you of a wonderful performance of my 3 1/2 h.p. 1915 "Sun-beam" Motor Cycle with your "Big Tree" Benzine on my trip from "Wellington to Feilding via Foxton and Palmerston North, during "which I covered the distance of 115 miles on 1 gallon of "Big Tree" "Benzine. I find "Big Tree" Benzine very clean and powerful, and "easy to start on.

"Yours faithfully,
"BOMBARDIER MACKAY, R.N.Z.A."
