

WOMEN ENGAGED IN THE MANUFACTURE OF MUNITIONS IN FRANCE.

GENERAL JOFFRE, COMMANDER-IN-CHIEF OF THE ALLIES' FORCES, PRESENTING DECORATIONS TO DISTINGUISHED FRENCH SOLDIERS. THE GENERAL IS ON THE RIGHT, EMBRACING THE RECIPIENT OF A DECORATION.

VIEW OF THE INTERNMENT CAMP AND GARDENS AT GRONINGEN, HOLLAND. Since the Germans occupied Antwerp about 2000 British sailors have been interned at this camp as prisoners. A brother of Mr. Badcock, of Mt. Eden, is amongst the number. When the Britishers arrived at Groningen this was just a bare field, half swamp, in fact. In the foreground is the Q.M.S. Administration hut, Post Office, and Dutch officers' quarters, while on the right are living huts extending over 90 yards.

A GREAT DAY ON THE WESTERN FRONT. GENERAL JOFFRE REVIEWING THE BRITISH TROOPS WHOSE GREAT COURAGE HAS BEEN DEMONSTRATED DURING THEIR CAMPAIGN WITH THE GERMANS.
