

ONE OF THE BRITISH HOSPITALS AT SALONIKA. This magnificent building is constructed in white marble, and was formerly an orphanage. The cheery wounded Tommies keenly appreciate their excellent surroundings, and are shown assembled on the imposing steps which form the entrance to this fine mansion.

RUSSIA'S TRIBUTE TO LETTISH SOLDIERS—FULL MILITARY HONORS. A CORTAGE OF THE FIRST LETTISH SOLDIERS TO BE KILLED IN ACTION. The cortege is passing through the town.

LETTISH RECRUITS RECEIVE AN ENTHUSIASTIC SEND-OFF AT RIGA ON THE OCCASION OF THEIR LEAVING TO TAKE UP POSITIONS IN THE NORTH-WESTERN RUSSIAN FIGHTING LINE.—Thousands assembled on the quay to wish them good luck. The Lettish have proved themselves to be splendid soldiers, and have taken part in many battles.

A WAITRESS FOR EVERY GUEST.—GLASGOW WOMEN MUNITION WORKERS BRINGING FOOD AND COMFORT TO WOUNDED MEN TO A DINNER. Their working day is devoted to handling shells, and thus save the men's lives, and in addition to this they devote their spare hours to brightening the soldiers' hours of sickness.