

A few houses in Paris show early Victorian tendencies, says a fashion writer, and very feminine and delightful they are—the drooping feather, the lace collar, the taffeta frill, the very plain corsage, the buttoned sleeve, the pork-pie hat and short floating veil, and a hundred and one trifles that are all charming in themselves providing that they do not degenerate into exaggerations. Change we must have and there is no reason because we are purely 1918 in our street attire, we should not become a little bit freakish and amuse ourselves in the evening by aping some quaint conceits or charming successes of the dress of bygone days.

Scrub's Ammonia has a positively magical effect alike on paint and plate. It is quite capable of restoring the colour to faded or stained carpets, and is immensely useful in the mere washing of fragile china or a dainty muslin curtain. Under these circumstances, it is almost needless to say that housewives will join in the chorus of praise, seeing that Scrub's Ammonia simplifies work considerably, by saving time and trouble, and showing far more successful results than would have been possible without its use.

Westport.

Miss Snodgrass, owing to change of residence, has resigned the hon. secretaryship of this club, after holding the position for some thirteen years. Miss Snodgrass was also the leading player in the club, having upheld the position of champion for several years. In addition to playing a fine game herself, she was a willing coach to many of the younger players, and will undoubtedly be greatly missed by her fellow members. Miss Mary Enright has been elected secretary for the current season.

Hokitika.

Mrs. Stewart has taken up the secretaryship of Hokitika, vice Mrs. Boyd, resigned after some five or six years of office. This club is making a special effort in support of the N.Z. L.G.U. Red Cross matches this season. In addition to holding a monthly match, the lady members are catering for the afternoon teas, all profits going to the fund. As a result of their labours they have forwarded the sum of £3 for the month of May.
