

Characteristic War-time Scenes in and around London.

AN IRISH VICTORIA CROSS WINNER.—SERGEANT QUIGG, V.C., of the Royal Irish Rifles, who won this coveted decoration in the present war in addition to the Croix de Guerre and the St. George's Cross, in conversation with SERGEANT MUNTON, who fought in the Crimea.

AN AMUSING INCIDENT DURING THE BABY SHOW RECENTLY HELD AT DEAL. The British Tommies enter a good specimen of a baby, who, however, is disqualified. The show was largely attended by soldiers and sailors, who derived much fun from the proceedings.

EXODUS FROM LONDON TO THE SEASIDE FOR THE HOLIDAYS—A TOILET ON THE BEACH. The recent holiday season in London was fully availed of by many to pay a visit to the seaside, and in view of the assuring war news there was more gaiety to be witnessed on all sides than in the dark days which prevailed during former vacations.

BRITAIN'S CAPABLE LEADER TALKING TO A VETERAN WELSH SOLDIER WOUNDED IN THE GREAT CAMPAIGN.—Mr. Lloyd George, in the course of a recent message to the nation, said: "You are getting through; full steam ahead." The motto of the Allied forces in France from now on is, "Full Steam Ahead," and recent developments show that the words are being put into practical effect.
