

The first great social event in London since the armistice was signed was the "Victory" ball at the Albert Hall. It was a most brilliant spectacle, and was promoted to start a £500,000 scheme for the National College of Nursing. A feature of the decorations were hundreds of white doves symbolising peace, amidst a great display of Allied flags of infinite variety. There were gorgeous fancy and poudre costumes interspersed with large numbers of naval and military uniforms. Massed string bands and the Guards Band supplied the music.

A pot of rose cold cream and a bottle of almond cream are simple toilet accessories on which the beauty-seeker may rely as very useful for softening and whitening the skin. Immediately after washing, and while the skin is still glowing from the brisk drying, rub into the face and hands a little cold cream, working it well into the pores. A piece of absorbent cotton passed lightly over the surface will remove all superfluous cream, and a little powder dusted on will take away all the shine and greasy look.

"No Rubbing" Laundry Help does the washing while you rest. 1/- packet sufficient for seven weekly family washings. Wonderful for its labour saving and perfect cleansing qualities. Smeethons, Ltd.
