

A MARLBOROUGH SUBTERRANEAN CLOVER CROP

The illustration above shows the height and density of the growth. At the right direct heading of the crop is in progress, and below is a close-up of the lifters attached to the fingers of the cutting bar. In the circles are two views of the area when the crop was at the peak of its growth.

