LAW REPORT.

("Times Law Reports," Vol. xxxii, page 414.)

[COURT OF CRIMINAL APPEAL.—(LORD READING, C.J., RIDLEY AND AVORY, JJ)—3RD APRIL, 1916.]

REX v. PHILLIS.

Criminal Law—Murder—Reduction to manslaughter—Provocation—Whether angry words sufficient.

Angry words do not constitute sufficient provocation to reduce the killing of a person from murder to manslaughter.

FREDERICK Phillis, who was convicted on the 16th March of wilful murder before Mr. Justice Low at the Leeds Assizes, and who was sentenced to death, applied for leave to appeal against his conviction. According to the practice of the Court, the application was treated as a final appeal.

Mr. C. Mellor, who appeared for the applicant, said that the husband and wife had lived an unhappy life for twenty years, and the wife had repeatedly left the husband. The husband had always taken her back. She had again left him some time before the murder, and the real object of the applicant's visit to her on the day of the crime was to persuade her to return. It could not be denied that the applicant had paid that visit with a razor in his pocket. He was extremely fond of his wife, and his defence on this point was that he intended, if she refused to return to him, to cut his throat in her presence. His wife declined to return to him, and she told him to go and live with another woman. In a moment of provocation he turned the razor against her. He then cut his own throat. The jury recommended the applicant to mercy.

Counsel complained that the effect of Mr. Justice Low's summing up at the trial was to withdraw from the consideration of the jury the defence of manslaughter on the ground of provocation, and practically to direct the jury that they must return a verdict of guilty of murder. He referred to Rex v. Dinnick (26 The Times L.R., 74) and Rex v. Hopper (31 The Times L.R., 360).

Mr. Tebbs, for the Crown, was not called upon.

The Lord Chief Justice said that the question for the Court was whether Mr. Justice Low had been wrong in directing the jury that if they accepted the facts stated in evidence they must return a verdict of murder. The Judge had held that the language used by the woman when she told the applicant to go and live with another woman did not amount to provocation. It would be a serious departure from the law if, merely because of the use of angry words, the killing of a person could be reduced to the crime of manslaughter. The law was that angry words did not constitute sufficient provocation, and Mr. Justice Low so directed the jury. In the opinion of the Court there was no ground for any complaint about his summing up. The jury had returned a verdict of guilty of murder, with a recommendation to mercy. That recommendation was a matter with which the Court had nothing to do. It was entirely for the Home Secretary. Nothing that the Court had said was intended in any way to detract from the value of the recommendation to mercy.

Solicitors—The Registrar of the Court of Criminal Appeal; the Director of Public Prosecutions.

(From Gazette, 1916, pages 1913 and 1917.)

Regulations as to Leases for the Toheroa-bearing Areas in the South Island.

LIVERPOOL, Governor.

ORDER IN COUNCIL.

At the Government House at Wellington, this fifth day of June, 1916.

Present:

WHEREAS it is provided by the fifth section of the Fisheries Act, 1908 (hereinafter called "the said Act"), that the Governor may from time to time, by Order in Council gazetted, make regulations which shall have force and effect either throughout New Zealand or only in such waters or places as are specified in the regulations for, inter alia, imposing conditions and restrictions on the taking of fish:

And whereas it is desirable to make regulations imposing conditions and restrictions on the taking of the shell-fish known as toheroa, in the South Island:

Now, therefore, His Excellency the Governor of the Dominion of New Zealand, in pursuance and exercise of the power and authority conferred upon him by section five of the said Act, and of all other powers and authorities enabling him in that behalf, and acting by and with the advice and consent of the Executive Council of the said Dominion, doth hereby make the following regulations imposing conditions and restrictions on the taking of toheroa from places in the South Island of New Zealand; and doth hereby declare that the said regulations shall come into force on the date of the publication thereof in the New Zealand Gazette.

REGULATIONS.

1. No person, firm, or company shall take toheroa, for the purpose of canning the same or for marketing fresh, without a lease in writing under the hand of the Minister of Marine (hereinafter referred to as "the Minister"), and subject to the regulations hereinafter specified.

2. Persons wishing to obtain a lease of any toheroa bed shall make application in writing to the Collector at the nearest port, giving a clear description of the locality, and the extent and boundaries of the area for which the application is made.

3. On receipt of an application for a toheroa lease by the Collector, a notification that such an application has been received shall be advertised in a newspaper circulating in the district, and if no other application is received, the Minister may, on the report of the said Collector, grant such lease.

4. Should there be more than one application for the same area, a ballot shall be taken and the lease shall be granted to the successful applicant: Provided that preference shall be given to an applicant who may be deemed to have been the first to discover, or bring under the notice of the Department, the existence of toheroa beds of commercial value in any locality; and the Minister may, if he thinks fit, grant a lease to such applicant without advertising or ballot.

5. No person, firm, or company shall be granted a lease for more than one area.

6. The lessee shall have the exclusive right to take toheroa for canning purposes, or for marketing fresh, from the area included in his lease.

7. If within one year from the date of the lease the lessee has failed to make reasonable use of the toheroa on his lease either by canning or by placing them on the market fresh, the Minister may, on the report of an Inspector of Fisheries, cancel such lease.

8. The Minister may, as considered necessary, set apart areas in any district from which toheroa may be taken by the public for private use, and also areas for the exclusive use of the Maoris for their food.

9. The lease shall remain in force for a period of ten years from the date thereof, unless in the meantime such lease is cancelled as hereinafter provided, and the lessee shall not dispose of, assign, or change his interest in the lease without the written consent of the Minister first obtained.

10. The lessee shall pay in respect of the lease held by him an annual rental of £5 in advance, dating from the date of the lease.

11. The working of the area in respect of which the lease is granted shall be under the control of an Inspector of Fisheries, who shall have power to regulate the quantity of toheroa that may be taken, in order to prevent the beds or area being depleted or injuriously affected.

12. In case the lessee shall—

- (1.) Commit or suffer a breach of these regulations or any of them;
- (2.) Fail to pay the sums specified in clause 10 of these regulations;
- (3.) Take toheroa from any area other than that in respect of which his lease is issued, without the previous consent of the Minister; or
- (4.) Work the beds in such a way that they become depleted or injuriously affected,— then and in any of the said cases the Minister may cancel the said lease on giving written notice to the lessee; and upon such cancellation the lessee shall forthwith remove all buildings and structures from the area in respect of which the lease was issued.

J. F. ANDREWS,
Clerk of the Executive Council.
