FINANCE ACT, 1931.

Section 2. (1) Save as provided by the next succeeding subsection, the term "salary" means, for the purposes of this Part of this Act, the salary, wages, allowances, fees, commission, and every other emolument, whether in one sum or several sums, received by any person to whom this Part of this Act applies; and where any such person, whether permanently or temporarily employed, is provided in respect of his office or position with board or lodging, or with the use of a house or quarters, or is paid an allowance in lieu of being so provided with board or lodging or with the use of a house or quarters, the value of such benefits, determined in the case of a contributor to the Public Service Superannuation Fund or the Teachers' Superannuation Fund in accordance with the provisions of section one hundred and fifteen of the Public Service Superannuation Act, 1927, and determined in the case of any other person in such manner as the Minister of Finance directs, shall be deemed to be salary for the purpose of ascertaining the total rate of salary to be reduced pursuant to the provisions of this Part of this Act.

(2) The term "salary" does not include—

(a) Travelling-expenses, or any fee, commission, or other emolument which the Minister of Finance declares not to be salary; or

(b) Any superannuation or other retiring-allowance.

Section 6. (1) The rates of salary of all other persons to whom this Act applies shall as from the first day of April, nineteen hundred and thirty-one, be reduced by an amount equal to ten per centum of the rates (whether annual, monthly, weekly, daily, hourly, or otherwise howsoever) at which such persons are paid on the thirty-first day of March, nineteen hundred and thirty-one.

(3) Where any part of the salary of any person consists of board or lodging, or the use of a house or quarters, the total amount by which his salary is reduced as aforesaid shall be deducted from moneys payable to him in respect of such salary.

Section 8. (1) Every person whose rate of salary is reduced by this Part of this Act and who is a contributor to the Public Service Superannuation Fund, or the Teachers' Superannuation Fund, or the Government Railways Superannuation Fund, may, by notice in writing to the Secretary of the Board charged with the administration of that superannuation fund, given on or before the thirtieth day of September, nineteen hundred and thirty-one, elect to continue to contribute to the fund as if his salary had not been so reduced; and every person so electing and contributing shall be entitled on retirement to a retiring-allowance (if any) of the same amount as that to which he would have been entitled if his salary had not been reduced by this Act:

Provided that in the case of any such person who at the thirty-first day of March, nineteen hundred and thirty-one, is, pursuant to an election made by him pursuant to subsection one of section eleven of the Public Expenditure Adjustment Act, 1921-22, contributing to any such fund on the basis of a higher rate of salary than that actually being received by him on that date, such person may elect, pursuant to this section, to continue to contribute to such fund on the basis of such higher rate, and on retirement his retiring-allowance (if any) shall be calculated accordingly.

(2) Where a contributor does not make an election pursuant to this section, the amount of contributions deducted (whether before or after the passing of this Act) from his salary in respect of the difference between the rate of his salary as reduced by this Act and any higher rate of salary to which he may have been theretofore entitled, or on the basis of which he had theretofore been contributing to any of the aforesaid superannuation funds, shall be held by the Superannuation Board, and shall be credited to the contributor in satisfaction to the extent thereof of contributions thereafter becoming payable.

(2) Where pursuant to any Act or regulations, or scale of salaries or wages, any person is entitled to an increment to his salary or wages, the rate of every such increment shall, until the same is lawfully altered, be reduced by an amount equal to ten per centum thereof.

(3) All rates of salaries and wages which by any Act or by any scheme of classification are appropriate to any position or office shall be deemed to be reduced by the amount of any reduction effected by this Act in the rate of remuneration of any person holding such position or office, or, in the case of positions and offices vacant on the first day of April, nineteen hundred and thirty-one, that would have been effected if any person had been holding such position or office on that date.
