TRADE DEPRESSION.

ONE of the Advantages of a depressed Condition of Trade is that it leads to the serious consideration of matters, which, in more prosperous times, are generally overlooked, or carelessly regarded; and amongst these may be reckoned a desire on the part of the Population to know how to lay out its Money to the Best Possible Advantage.

MOLLISON, DUTHIE &amp; CO.,

D R A P E R S,
GEORGE STREET, DUNEDIN,

To meet the present Depression in Trade, purpose commencing their SEVENTH ANNUAL STOCK-TAKING SALE on THURSDAY, July 1, 1886, and continue until the end of the Month. Our Sales have always been successful, but we are determined this one will be a much more memorable one than any previous SALE. On account of the long depression, we were able to lay in an Immense Stock of WINTER GOODS at pretty much our own Prices, and, as an inducement to CLEAR OUT the Whole Lot, we are prepared to Offer at RIDICULOUSLY LOW PRICES, much Lower than it has been possible to SELL at before.
