FIAT JUSTITIA.

FRIDAY, DECEMBER 14, 1883.

PROGRESS AND JUSTICE IN THE NINETEENTH CENTURY.

THE Catholics of New Zealand provide, at their own sole expense, an excellent education for their own children. Yet such is the sense of justice and policy in the New Zealand Legislature that it compels these Catholics, after having manfully provided for their own children, to contribute largely towards the free and godless education of other people's children!!! This is tyranny, oppression, and plunder.

THE PRESENT IN POLITICS.

NOTHING can be clearer to the observer of public opinion as expressed in the Press and by casual conversation than that there prevails profound dissatisfaction with public men and measures. But what is more remarkable still is the tone of diffidence, and, indeed, of almost despair, with which men speak of our future prospects: Few, perhaps, would be found to assert that the colony does not possess men wise enough and courageous enough to extricate the country from the dangers that threaten her, and the difficult position in which she finds herself involved. But there are many who think it is in vain to hope that such men will be afforded an opportunity of devoting their experience and talents to the promotion of the best interests of New Zealand.

It is only through Parliament anything efficacious in this direction can be done; and such is the state of the franchise that our best and wisest and most disinterested men have not the
