chase, was killed. The bullock and pig shortly afterwards showed signs of rabies. Mr Humphreys was treating the bullock medicinally, and, having a cut finger, believed some of the virus to have got in, and accordingly suffered great anxiety lest the dread hydrophobia had been taken into his system. He is now completely recovered of the fright which was created through his finger becoming very much swollen and painful. The dog also bit, or is alleged to have bitten, a man named Gushinan, on the arm. Gushinan journeyed up to Cavan for the purpose of being treated by McGovern, who is said to possess an effectual and ready cure for hydrophobia. The remedy is a secret, said to have been handed down from father to son through seven generations and cannot be bought. Another mad dog was shot on St Stephen's day by the Dromod police. It belonged to Mr Francis J. O'Brien, Dromod.

Longford.—YOUNG LORD GRANARD.—On Lord Granard's arrival at Castle Forbes, for the first time since attaining his majority, the village was ablaze with bonfires and illuminations. Newtown is a picturesque village at any time, but then it looked to great advantage, the bonfires throwing their lurid light in and around the nooks of this charming little spot. He was met at the station by a large crowd of people.

Louth.—GUN ACCIDENTS WILL HAPPEN.—Four young men went out shooting recently in Dundalk, in a boat belonging to one of the number. They were some distance beyond the mouth of the river when Mathews, a cycle mechanic, lifted his gun from the bottom of the boat to take a shot. In drawing the gun toward him by the barrel, the trigger caught in the seat in front, and the weapon was discharged, the contents passing through Mathews' arm, and some portion lodging in the leg of a young man named Murphy, who sat behind him. The lad was brought back to town and conveyed to the Louth Infirmary. Mathews' arm has since been amputated.

Limerick.—PEACEFUL CONDITION OF THE COUNTY.—Owing to the peaceful condition of the County of Limerick, the contribution asked by the Executive for the maintenance of police is £591 less than the sum required at the last spring assizes. The sum presented for in the spring of 1895 was £1716. In the coming assizes it is but £1125.

DEATH OF MR T. E. O'BRIEN.—We regret to announce the death of Thomas Euright O'Brien, Her Majesty's Lieutenant and Custos Rotulorum for County Limerick. Mr O'Brien was a zealous supporter of the Irish Parliamentary Party and a munificent subscriber to the Nationalist funds. He was a member of many local boards, but, owing to failing health, took no active part in any. Every public charity and good work found in him a generous friend. Mr O'Brien was appointed lieutenant of the county by the late Government, and in the discharge of his duties gave the greatest popular satisfaction. His demise, which was unexpected, was due to a fit of apoplexy.

A WOMAN ATTACKED BY A RABID CAT.—A woman named Honora Kennedy, aged 70, residing at Fish Lane, Limerick, was admitted to Barrington's Hospital, suffering from severe lacerated wounds on the arm and leg, inflicted by a rabid cat. It appears the poor old creature was in bed when she was attacked. Two men, attracted by her cries, came to her assistance, and strangled the cat and conveyed the woman to the hospital.

Tipperary.—DEATH OF MR CASHIN.—We regret to chronicle the death on the feast of the Epiphany of Mr Thomas Cashin, Clonmel, at O'Connell street, aged 60 years. Mr Cashin occupied a high position not merely as a successful merchant and man of business but as a representative citizen and city father. His remains after a Requiem Mass, largely attended by the clergy, were interred in St Mary's.

Tyrone.—CONVENT OF MERCY, DUNGANNON.—A most successful entertainment was given lately by the pupils of the Convent of Mercy in St Patrick's Schoolrooms, Dungannon. Two years ago the foundation stone of the convent was laid, and only eighteen months elapsed since the good Sisters commenced their labours, but the excellent entertainment given by the children reflected the highest credit upon them. The convent was erected at a cost of £6,023, and, with the exception of £500, the debt has been cleared off. The pupils already number 300, and the convent was most successful at the last Intermediate Examinations. Among the pupils who distinguished themselves were: Misses Agnes Kelly, Cassie Sleane, Mary Kelly, Rosa Longbrun, Mary Collen, the Misses Geatens, Mary C. Daly, M. Corrigan, a n doon, L. Sleane, M. M. Sleane. In music: Misses Agnes Kelly, Cullen, the Misses Geatens, and M. Daly.

Waterford.—NEW PARISH PRIEST OF CLOGHEN.—Rev Thomas McGrath, P.P., has been appointed parish priest of Carrick-on-Suir. Father Phelan, P.P., Clonea, has been transferred to Cloghen. Father Paul Power, C.C., Carrick, has been appointed to the parish of Clonea.

RISING OF THE BLACKWATER.—The flood of the Blackwater was very high lately; in fact, unprecedentedly so. The inconvenience and suffering endured by the people residing at Twibog, whose houses were filled with water, were very severe. By means of boats those of Twibog were conveyed to and from their houses.

GENERAL.

BEQUEST OF £15,000 TOWARDS THE STUDY OF IRISH GAELIC.—Intelligence of this munificent bequest is contained in a letter received by Mr T. O. Russell from Mr Patrick O'Byrne, of New York, himself one of the best Irish scholars on either side of the ocean. "I am sure you will be delighted to hear that an old gunsmith named Patrick Mullen, a native of Ballyshannon, who died here a few weeks ago, left about 75,000 dollars for the carrying out of the teaching of Irish in Ireland. This will have been probated, but it is to be conducted by a nephew of the deceased. I sincerely hope the bequest will stand as it may be the beginning of great things for the Gaelic cause."

FUNERAL OF CARDINAL LOGUE'S SISTER.—The funeral of Mrs McGee, sister of his Eminence Cardinal Logue, took place recently, and was very largely attended by the clergy and laity of the surrounding districts. Owing to the shortness of the time from the announcement of her death till the funeral, many priests and persons living in distant parts of the diocese were unable to attend, but a great number sent telegrams of condolence and offerings of flowers. His Eminence the Cardinal obtained the Pope's blessing for his sister the day she died. Being still in Rome he was unable to attend the funeral, but was represented. The Most Rev Dr O'Donnell, notwithstanding the inclemency of the day, journeyed from Letter-Kenny, and officiated in the church and at the graveside. The funeral cortege left Mrs McGee's late residence at two o'clock for Doe Chapel, where the interment took place, and was one of the largest seen in the district for many years. There was a very large line of cars and vehicles, while many travelled long distances on foot in order to pay their respects to the memory of deceased. The chief mourners were: Mr John McGee (husband), Master Michael McGee (son), Mr Michael Logue, student (nephew), and Mr Logue, Carrigart (cousin).

A SIGN OF IMPROVEMENT.—The directors of the Munster and Leinster Bank, says the Freeman's Journal, present an encouraging report to their shareholders. The net profit for the half-year have been £13,679, which, together with the balance of £4,129, enables the directors to pay a dividend of 10 per cent, add £4,000 to reserve, apply £1,000 to the reduction of premises account, and carry forward £2,808. The undivided profits will now stand at £180,000, or 90 per cent. of the subscribed capital. This is progress.

Mr Gawne, of Dunedin (says the Southland Times of April 13 1891), has just been on a visit to Invercargill to push business a little. Not that it wants much canvassing, for since he commenced the manufacture of his Worcestershire Sauce, the demand has kept pace with his capacity to supply it. He makes a really good thing, indistinguishable from the famous Lea and Perrin's, which he places upon one's table at a much lower price, and trusts to that to secure a steadily growing trade. Those who have not yet tried the Colonial article should put their prejudice aside for a time and test the question with a bottle or two.—ADVT.

A meeting was held in a certain Essex town to settle the legality of a custom with some Anglican clerics of saluting the vestment called "a stole" before wearing it. Feeling ran high as opinions differed. The Protestant Bishop of Colchester from the chair settled the knotty point by the following statement:—"I have heard of a fine being imposed for stealing a kiss, but never a fine for kissing a stole!" The meeting dissolved amid peals of laughter, and no more was heard of the matter.

"Everywhere the Catholic Church is found in the foremost ranks. In every path of honour and truth and justice her voice encourages her children to take the lead, whilst she guides and sustains them by the light of faith and the sound principles of morality and Christian life."—Cardinal Moran.
