DUNEDIN HORSE SALEYARDS.

MESSES. WRIGHT, STEPHENSON AND Co. report as follows:—The entry of horses to-day was larger than those of the last few weeks, entry of horses to-day was larger than those of the last few weeks, and as there were oungrous buyers present the prices realised could not but be considered satisfactory. The entries were principally of hacks and harness horses (good useful sorts), which at the present time are in great demand both for town and country buyers. Only a few really good draughts were offered, and as was the case with the hacks and harness horses top prices were realised for them. We have a large number of inquiries for good, strong buggy and strong, active spring-cart horses. We sold in all 28 horses. We quote—First-class draughts (extra heavy) 1.25 to 1.30 · good ordinary draughts (extra heavy) (coung) draughts (extra heavy), L25 to L30; good ordinary draughts (pung), L18 to L22; medium draughts, L12 to L16; aged draughts, L6 to L10; good backs and harness horses, L12 to L16; medium backs and harness horses, L7 to L9; light and inferior backs and harness horses, L12 to L16.

The moment a child is born; that moment he begins to die. The moment a child is born; that moment a construction to the system. Therefore beware of disease making inroads into the system. Probably one of the earliest signs is slight dyspepsia which cannot a stributed to error in diet, want of fresh air, &c. It is a nervous be attributed to error in diet, want of fresh air, &c. It is a nervous kind of atonic dyspepsia, sometimes combined with acidity from liver sympathy. There is not the same relish for food, and so relief kind of atonic dyspepsia, sometimes combined with acidity from liver sympathy. There is not the same relish for food, and so relief from this state is sought for in piquant relishes, wine or tea. Another symptom is an uneasy or tired feeling about the head, fulness it may be, or sleeplessness and stupidity, especially after eating. The brow is often hot, so is the top of the head, and the hand is pressed wearily across the eyes. Life begins to lose its brightness, then things begin to go a trifle wrong, and there are moments of peevishness and irritability. Lowness of spirits is succeeded by want of sleep. There is danger ahead, if not, indeed, closs at hand, and happy is he who sees the signal in time. Recourse should immediately be had to some zenuine tonic restorative, which will remediately be had to some genuine tonic restorative, which will restore the consumed nervous tissue, and most probably CLEMENT'S TONIC is the best for this purpose, it having had uniformily good results every time we have seen it used. In cases of debility, nervous prostration, bilious and nervous headaches, anæmia, and all diseases arising from poorness of blood and indigestion, CLEMENT'S TONIC can be used with confidence. It is not a quack remedy, and unlike other patent medicines its proprietors do not claim that it "will cure everything" from lock-jaw to bad spelling. But for cases of effections of the nervous and digestive systems it is excelled. other patent medicines its proprietors do not claim that it "will cure everything" from lock-jaw to bad spelling. But for cases of affections of the nervous and digestive systems it is specially serviceable. E. C. Guttridge, Esq. (Messrs Mauri Bros.), writes:—486 Kent Street, Sydney. Dear Sir,—It is only justice that I should write to you of the benefit I have derived from the use of Clement's Tonic. Two years ago I was brought to death's door by typhoid, and from that time until recently I was quite destitute of strength and energy, my daily occupation was severe toil, and I had on several occasions to take complete rest from business on account of sheer weakness. Eventually I commenced to take Clement's Tonic, and with the first bottle I commenced to regain strength, and you sheer weakness. Eventually I commenced to take CLEMENT'S TONIO, and with the first bottle I commenced to regain strength, and you will readily understand that I continued its use, and now have taken six large bottles. My strength is completely restored! I give all the credit to CLEMENT'S TONIC, and having obtained so much benefit from its use I think the least I can do is to induce others to use it. W. J. L. Kyle, Esq., Postmaster, Manillla, N.S.W. writes, July 23rd, 1889. Dear Sir,—At the beginning of the present winter I suffered for several weeks from very severe attacks of neuralgia and toothack. After trying several remedies (?) without any relief, I heard of a friend who had derived great benefit from CLEMENT'S TONIO, and believing that my system wanted bracing up, I sent for a bottle, and before I had finished it the neuralgia had quite left me. At first I was sceptical as to the merits of CLEMENT'S TONIO but am now fully convinced that it does all you claim for it, and you can send me another bottle, as a stand-bye against future attacks. another bottle, as a stand-bye against future attacks
