

KEEP GOING

"We must either go forward or go back," said a representative man of affairs; "there is no standing still in nature. This is a truth that applies peculiarly to the business world. Young firms grow because they have not yet become slaves of old-time methods. Old houses of business have a tendency to drop out of existence unless there is a constant infusion of new blood. Habit and custom keep them in old ruts, and as it is becoming less and less possible to merely "mark time" in commerce, they are gradually edged out of existence by stress of competition. The advice, then, to those who want to succeed in life is to keep going. Keep putting out new ideas, new methods, and new developments. It is the only way to keep abreast of the world, whether in your individual life or in a business career."
