Give Your Friends a Laugh this Xmas!

JIM SMILEY was "the dangdest feller for bettin'"—he'd bet on anything, and it was through his love of bettin' that he came to educate "Dan'l Webster"—but to enjoy the story, you must read it in Mark Twain's own words in "Masterpieces of Wit and Humor."

The shrewd Celtic philosophy of Mr. DOOLEY has made him a world-wide favorite. His witty remarks and advice are but one part of the 283 selections from 104 Authors in "Masterpieces of Wit and Humor."

"Masterpieces of Wit and Humor," you will certainly enjoy distinction. And besides this, think of the countless evenings of pure delight in your home, and afternoons at the seaside or away picnicking, spent in company such as you could never find on any stage!

"Laughter—the best Health Tonic in the World!"

You owe it to yourself and family to acquire this lifelong source of wholesome enjoyment—it will cost you nothing to get a set and to examine it in your own home. Six attractive volumes, 1164 pages, 104 Authors, 283 Selections, the cream of the world's Humor! Remember, the antidote for worry is laughter—we all need more of it, and these wonderful little books will bring it to you at the time when you need it most.

Here is the ideal Xmas present—a set of six little books packed full of the world's best humorous Writings, Stories, and Poems—that will provide unlimited entertainment and bring joy and merriment wherever they go.

Masterpieces of Wit and Humor

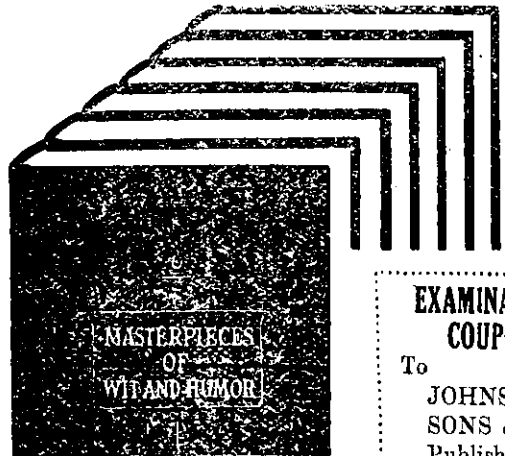

There was once an average business man. He had a good position and managed to keep his family in comfort. But he was always worn out when he came home from the office at night. He needed diversion, but had not the energy to go out once he had settled to his paper.

His wife became worried about him—one day she bought a set of books at a book-shop, and, on coming home, placed one of them so that her husband would come across it by accident.

That night, it was all she could do to get him to bed! From then, the change was miraculous! Everyone with whom he came in contact remarked on his new buoyancy of spirits.

"Laugh—and the World Laughs with you!"

Witty people, happy people, have the world at their feet; at the club; on the train; calling on neighbors; among family and friends—if you have read
