..Fire-proof Wired Glass..

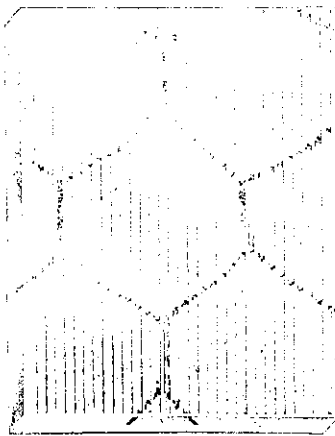

(Officially tested by The British Fire Prevention Committee to 1600° Fahr.: See report No. 196 and 197, Red Book; which has now been widely applied. It is shown by the experience of numerous users to have in controlling the spread of fire. It will restrict the fire to the immediate place of origin and prevent neighbouring premises becoming involved by the admission of flames through the windows

This protective efficacy is due to the support which the glass receives from the wiring, which enables the glass when attacked by fire to resist the fracture which must occur with ordinary glass.
