Coming Up ...

The Split Enz 'Enz With A Bang' tour begins at the Wellington Town Hall Nov 13, stretches as far south as Dunedin and concludes at Auckland's Logan Campbell Centre Nov 5 ... the ageless Cliff Richard plays Mt Smart Nov 24 and the Michael Fowler Centre on the 26th and 27th ... Aussies likely to make the jump across the Tasman in the next few months include the Eurogliders and Flaming Hands ... a number of tours, including the Psychedelic Furs and Echo and the Bunnymen had to be nixed because devaluation made them uneconomic ... but hopefully there will still be a few big summer tours.

Acoustic music has been on the rise in Auckland over the past year, with both groups like the Kiwi Animal and more established performers like Wayne Gillespie making a place for themselves. A group of musicians aim to combine the two movements with a weekly "acoustic night" at the Globe Tavern every Wednesday night. "We hope to feature all kinds of new acoustic music," says Gillespie, one of those behind the project. "The music will be the kind of thing you don't usually hear in pubs." Cover charge will be a reasonable $3. Anyone interested in playing should contact Chris Priestley during work hours at 775-870. Already booked are: October 17, Wayne Gillespie and Subway with Noel Connolly; October 24, Siren, Kathryn Tait, Rick Topp Denny Stanway and others from the Industrial Tapes compilation, Seven In One Blow; October 31, Phil Toms, Chris Thompson; November 7, Kathryn Tait, Siren; Nov 14, Last Man Down.
