FOURMIDABLE ALBUMS

OUT NOW FROM

GENE LOVES JEZEBEL 'House of Dolls'

This is the band's fourth album, produced by Jimmy Iovine. "A haunting brilliance pervades the work of a team who actually have something new to offer... Gene, and indeed Jezebel, rise above the set patterns of rock convention. They eschew that frantic panic to impress public and industry that plagues the average and nondescript, and arrive amongst us fresh confident and wholly relaxed about their concept... An exceptional piece of artistry by a band destined for greatness." KERRANG 24.10.88

THAT PETROL EMOTION 'End of the Millenium Psychosis Blues'

Produced by Roli Mosimann, 'End Of The Millenium Psychosis Blues' features an eclectic selection. It straddles Gaelic ballads, Beefheart twinges and serrated pop laced with funk and eruptions of hardcore. "This thick, sweet, half-evil noise must be close to a perfect control of its resources" NME.

KEITH RICHARDS 'Talk Is Cheap'

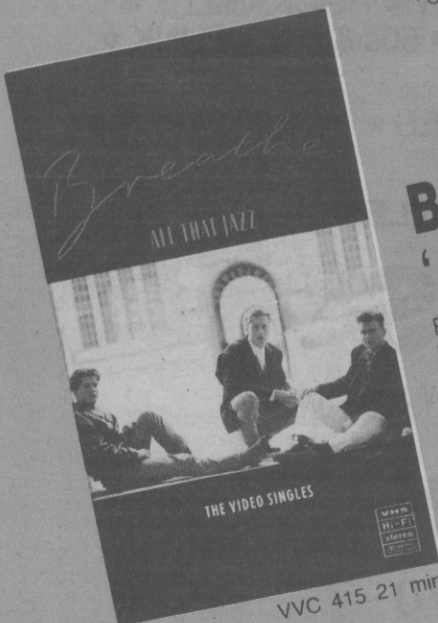

The debut album from the world's most famous rhythm guitarist. "Richards has assembled a cornucopia of skilled funksters (Bootsy, Bernie Worrell and The Memphis Horns) and the result is splendid and well worth it. Even the eighty-a-day cough of Richards' voice cannot dim the glimmer of the finest album by a Stone since Tattoo You." MUSIC WEEK.

MALOPOETS 'Life Is For Living'

The Malopoets are the brainchild of Pat Sefolosa, a native of the townships of Pretoria and this is their debut album. This album is sheer pop concision both in construction and melody of M'baqanga. It is a sound composed of all the ingredients to be found in South African music, ie soul, street music, gospel, zulu chants and rhythms, with the use of several languages, English and various South African dialects, often in the same song, serve to add even more scope to the music.
