

Glyptonotus antarcticus Eights. Fig. 1 (above).—Ventral aspect, female, $\times 1.3$; showing marsupium made up of overlapping oostegites arising at the bases of thoracic limbs 1–5; the right side of the marsupium has been cut away, and the brooding eggs removed. Fig. 2 (below).—Ventral aspect, male, $\times 2.5$.

Abbreviations.—Figure 1: 1, right second antenna; 2, mandible; 3, marsupium; 4, uropod; 5, fourth pereopod; 6, fifth pereopod; 7, sixth pereopod; 8, seventh pereopod; 9, terminal segment (pleotelson). Figure 2: 1, labrum; 2, mandible; 3, first gnathopod; 4, second gnathopod; 5, third gnathopod; 6, Spirobrachium attached to ventral plate.