SOLDIER MISSING

Man From Trentham Camp

Hundreds of searchers have failed to discover any trace of Private Douglas Neil Henry, a soldier from Trentham mobilization camp, who has been missing near his home at Te Akau, Waikato, for more than four days. His disappearance is a mystery to his relatives, who have stated that they suspect foul play, but this view is not taken by the police.

Private Henry has been missing since Wednesday night when he left the house of a friend. His car was found on the road between Te Akau and Ruakiwi on Thursday morning with the front wheels in a ditch and the keys missing. It is thought that he might have received concussion. He was in excellent health when he was last seen.

Private Henry was home on leave and was wearing battle dress. His father, Mr. S. E. Henry, Te Akau died three weeks ago. On Wednesday he appeared before the Hamilton M.A. power Committee in Ngaruawahia and was granted an extension of leave. The missing man is aged 22, single and of exceptional size, being 6ft. 6in. tall and weighing 16st.

Two hundred men, including territorials from Ngaruawahia camp and Ngaruawahia and Raglan police, took part in the search on Friday and Saturday and an area within a radius of four miles of where the car was found was thoroughly combed.

WEEK-END CLUBS

SPINSTERS' CLUB SECOND BIRTHDAY

Next Sunday the Spinsters' Club in Wellington, the first club to begin after war was declared, will hold its second birthday party, celebrating, exactly to the day, the occasion on which the club was begun on October 5, 1939. Started as a hospitality centre for entertainment of men on leave from the camps, the club began operations some weeks before any other of similar kind and since then some thousands of men have enjoyed themselves there during weekend leaves.

Last Sunday there was a large crowd present and during the evening musical numbers were supplied by Aircraftsmen R. G. Hall, W. Z. Smith, R. T. Mowat, B. M. Dalton, and D. J. McKillop. Mr. T. Maloney played extras. Every Friday Mr. Owen Price plays for dancing, his services in this direction being much appreciated.

CINDERELLA CLUB

The Cinderella Club had a busy and enjoyable weekend. Large attendances filled the rooms, which were decorated with daffodils. On Sunday there was the usual home-made tea, which seemed to be thoroughly enjoyed.

Mrs. Allen and her orchestra provided the music for dancing. The vocalist was Mr. Blake, and the men showed clearly their appreciation of the entertainment.

The hostesses and girls on duty for the weekend were Mrs. Mary Henderson, Mrs. Branson, Mrs. Simpson, Mrs. Arbon, Mrs. Haughton, president and vice-presidents respectively, and the Misses Alice Kelly, N. Wilson, Beryl Ogg, Aileen Outram and Joan Prentice.

SERVICEMEN'S CLUB

The Toc H Servicemen's Club was again filled to capacity during the weekend. The Friday night dance was crowded and Sunday was a very busy day, a large number of meals being served. The evening programme was in the hands of Miss Esme Crow and her concert party. Items were given by pupils of Miss Hazel Martin, Miss Betty Paynter, Miss Rita Morris, Mr. P. Cousins, Mrs. M. Newman, Mr. George Sutherland, Mr. C. Lindsay and Mr. Ivan Dentice. The accompanist for the evening was Miss Blanche Godier. Next Sunday a sound film programme will be shown by Mr. Casey.
