Entertain Your Pals with Our "Easy to do Magic!"

THE DISAPPEARING COIN.

ONE OF THE EASIEST TRICKS, BUT ABSOLUTELY MYSTIFYING.

This is one of the simplest yet most surprising of all the conjuring tricks. You borrow a coin, say half-a-crown or a penny, exhibit it freely to the audience and then wrap it in the magic handkerchief. You call upon anyone to hold it in full view, and then place a glass of water on the table. You direct the person holding the coin to drop it into the glass. He does so; everybody hears it strike the bottom, but when the handkerchief is withdrawn the coin has vanished, and you make it reappear in some unexpected place.

THE TOPPER CARD TRICK.

A NEW TRICK AND A VERY SURPRISING EFFECT.

Easily Performed. No Palming.
Three cards are shown and are dropped into a borrowed hat placed over another hat. One card is taken out and exhibited. The upper hat is then found to be empty, while the other two cards are discovered in the lower hat. Very little practice will enable this puzzling trick to be well performed.

THE BEWITCHED CARDS.

WONDERFUL AND BEWILDERING.

This is one of the most effective card tricks, yet it is very easily performed. Four eights are shown, at the word of command they change to four twos, then they are directed to become all red cards, and finally they are changed to all black cards. With a little practice, this astonishing trick can be done without risk of detection.

THE MAGIC WHISTLE.

EASY AND MARVELLOUS.

At the end of a wand is tied a piece of string, and, at the end of the string, is a whistle. To show that there is no deception all is handed out for inspection.

At command of performer whistle will answer any question by blowing "once" for No. "Two" for Yes, and "Three" for I don't know.
